The Clambake Cometh --

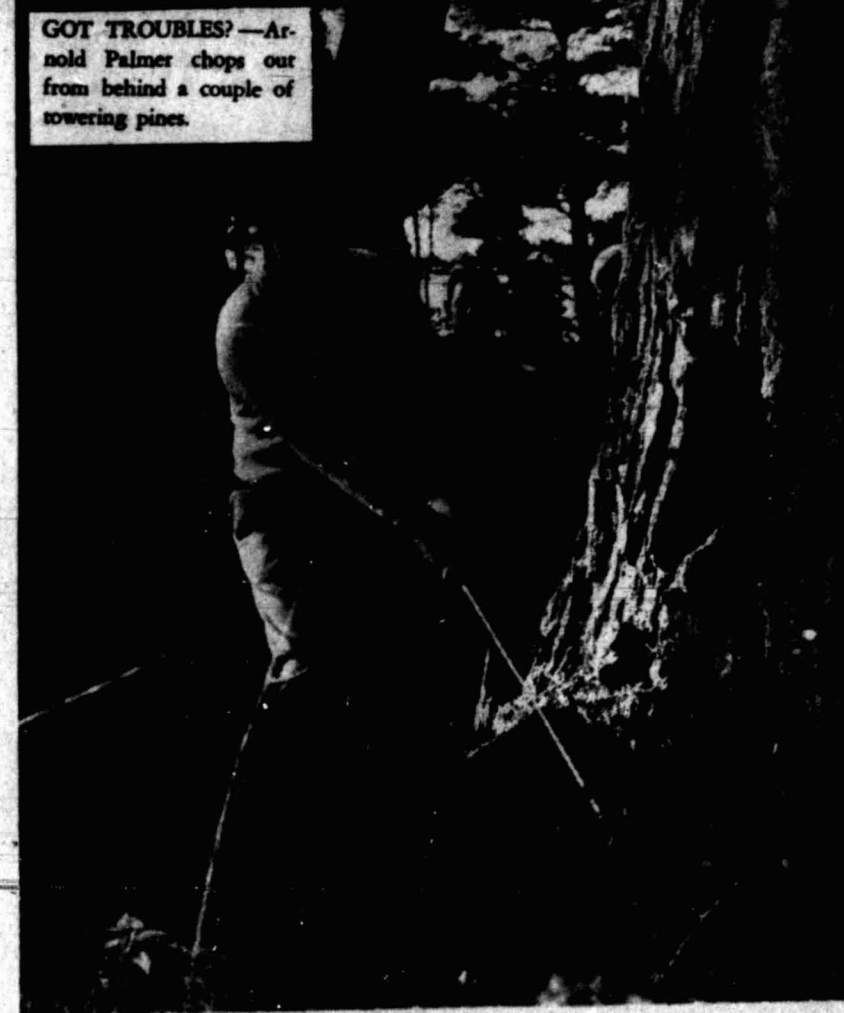

HEAVY ON THE MUSTARD—Bing Crosby makes a small contribution to charity and gets a fat, juicy hot dog in exchange at one of the Bingmobiles operated by the Carmel Youth Center.

NEXT—One thing that keeps Harry L. Crosby busy at the Crosbys is signing autographs. He signs, and signs, and signs.

WHAT'S MISSING?—This is Pebble Beach, circa 1951 BT (Before Television), and this scene, sans TV cameras, but with long skirts, is one of nostalgia.

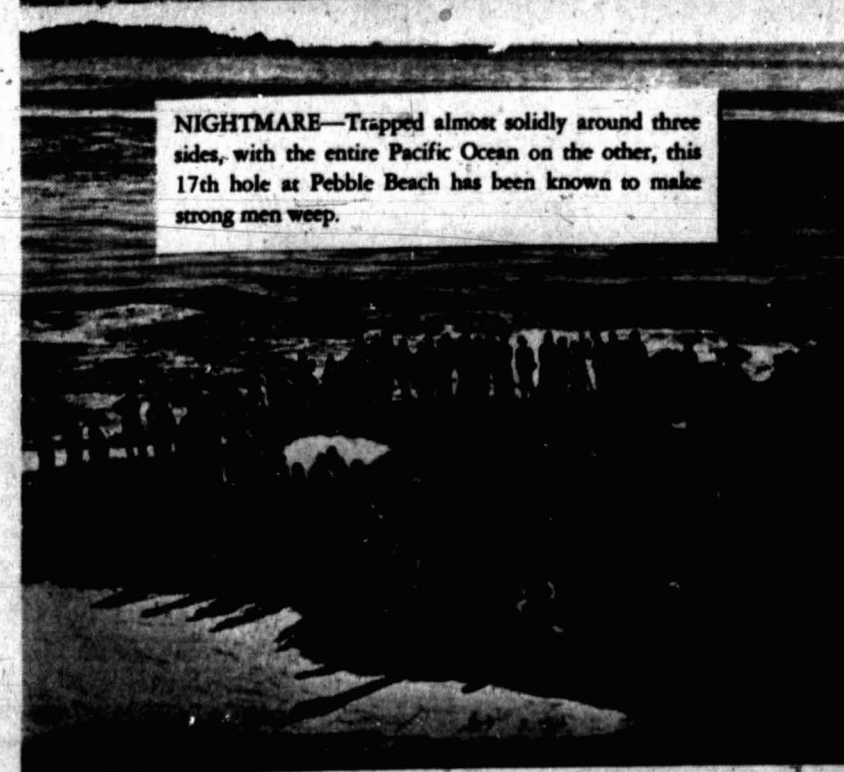

GOT TROUBLES?—Arnold Palmer chops out from behind a couple of towering pines.

DAPPER DUO—Bing Crosby in knickers and Ben Hogan in the white cap that was his trademark hold a conference on the first tee at Cypress Point. The year—1949. The weather—just great. Winner of Clambake—Ben Hogan, who else?

NIGHTMARE—Trapped almost solidly around three sides, with the entire Pacific Ocean on the other, this 17th hole at Pebble Beach has been known to make strong men weep.

WE THREE—One thing the Crosby Kaffeeklatch always has is weather—good, bad, horrible but never indifferent. This is one of the rare good days as Dan Searle, left, traditional general chairman of the tourney, Der Bingle, and fashion plate Jimmy Demaret chat at Pebble Beach.

SAND DUNES—An ocean-side green on the Spyglass Hill course.

INTERVIEW—Samuel F. B. Morse, center, is interviewed by John Cohan, owner of KSBW-TV, Channel 8 in Salinas at the dinner honoring Morse for his many years of dedication to the Monterey Peninsula. Mrs. Morse listens at left.

PROUD DAUGHTER—Mrs. Will (Mary) Shaw, Samuel F. B. Morse's daughter, looks on proudly as her father receives the accolades so deservedly due him. At left is Almo G. Michaud, president of Del Monte Properties, and at right, Architect Will Shaw.

'God Gave Us This Community'

Representatives of the Boards of Directors of the clubs Samuel F. B. Morse established in Del Monte Forest, Publisher Allen Griffin, Ambassador Freeman and others spoke eloquently in tribute to the dedicated purpose for more than a half-a-century by Mr. Morse in preserving the natural beauty of our area.

But none spoke more eloquently than Mr. Morse when he said "God gave us this community. All I did was try to preserve it."

He then went on to say that he was 20 years past retirement but there hasn't been any one around to fire him.

Before he was finished with his talk, Mr. Morse said he was very pleased with the good job being done by Tim Michaud (Del Monte Properties president).

Four-hundred and fifty people turned out for this tribute luncheon and at least this number of applications for tickets also had to be turned down. A pictorial book "A Time for Recollection" was distributed at the meeting.

Those interested in the history of Del Monte Properties will find it fascinating. Telephone the Del Monte public relations office, 624-6411 to obtain one.

Planners Honor Willox With Tree

The Carmel Planning Commission yesterday paused—at a pre-meeting ceremony—to remember, and to honor, a former Commissioner, George Willox, whose recent untimely passing it profoundly regretted.

Planted on the San Carlos street approach to the Sunset Center auditorium, was an especially chosen redwood tree, to honor the memory of George Willox. Participating in the dedication ceremony were Planning Commission Chairman Fred Keeble, Commissioner Dorothy von Meier (a former chairman), Mayor Barney Laiolo, and Mrs. George Willox.

Following the ceremony, the Commission convened for its regular meeting at the City Hall, where it considered further control of height limits in residential-area construction, possible apartment house regulations and outdoor store displays in the commercial district, and whether or not to grant a permit to an applicant to use a site which was not a lot-of-record, as a location for a single-family residence.

With regard to the outdoor display of wares in front of business establishments, the committee felt existing city law on the subject was probably sufficient, but that general knowledge of that law might be inadequate. Consequently the Commission directed its staff to contact the Carmel Business Association so that that organization could, in turn, inform the business community.

The request by Jitka Kratky for a use permit to build a house on a lot which was not a lot-of-record, was referred to the Commission's land-use committee.

CHORAL GROUP — Rehearsal for the recent performance of the "Creation" at Carmel Mission Basilica. Monterey Peninsula Choral Society holds registration for the Spring Term Wednesday, Jan. 29, 7:00 p.m. Fremont Junior High School, Seaside. Haymo Taeuber is the Director.

Choral Society Opens Spring Sessions

The Monterey Peninsula Choral Society invites interested singers to register for the spring term, Jan. 29, 7 p.m. at Fremont Junior High School, Seaside.

The director of the Choral Society is Haymo Taeuber, conductor of Monterey County Symphony, under whose baton "The Creation" by Joseph Haydn was performed at Carmel Mission Basilica in December.

Mr. Taeuber was formerly conductor of the Vienna Opera Company and Vienna Boys Choir.

The Chorus is currently rehearsing for the Third Annual Festival of Renaissance Music, Mar. 1 and 2, at First Methodist Church of Pacific

Grove. Handel's "Messiah" will be presented Mar. 30 at King Hall, Naval Postgraduate School, and the Chorus will be guest artists at the May concerts of Monterey County Symphony Orchestra in a performance of the Verdi "Requiem."

The registration fee for Monterey Adult School Advanced Chorus Class is $3.00 per term.

Choral Society annual membership dues are $10.00.

All interested singers are welcome. Tenors and Basses are especially needed. For further information call Mrs. John P. Beahan, 624-2838 or Mrs. Mel Buffo, 394-8804, or write Box 272, Carmel.

Art Association Names Officers

The Carmel Art Association, at its annual meeting Jan. 13, elected Ellwood Graham president of the art group and named 15 members to serve on the 1969 Board of Directors.

Other officers named for the coming year were Royden Martin, 1st vice-president; Alex Gonzales, 2nd vice-president; John Cunningham, 3rd vice-president; Sam Colburn, treasurer; Sophie Harpe, recording secretary, and Kathryn Aurner, corresponding secretary.

Those named to the board were Edith Dinkin, Kathryn Aurner, Ken Wiese, John Cunningham, Royden Martin, Helen B. Dooley, Sam Colburn, Sophie Harpe, Charles Thomas.

Jeanette M. Lewis, Alex Gonzales, Jesse Corsaut, Kay Rodgers, Mabel Landaker and Ellwood Graham.

Edna Parratt Receives Award

Mrs. David Potter of San Francisco, was named a Fellow of the California Historical Society in impressive ceremonies at the Annual Meeting and Awards Banquet, Thursday, Jan. 16, held in the Society's San Francisco Victorian mansion.

Fellows are elected in recognition of distinguished attainments in the field of California and Western history and outstanding service to the Society.

An award of Merit, was presented to Edna Martin Parratt, Carmel.

As librarian at the Bancroft Library, managing director of CHS, and editor of the "Notes," Edna Martin Parratt has served scholars and the Society ably and devotedly. Upon her retirement to Carmel, she has continued to stimulate interest in California history and serve her community as a member of the Board of Directors of the Carmel Mu-

Museums Will Show 'Wine In the Arts'

One of the most unusual exhibitions to be shown on the Monterey Peninsula in the last decade will be presented in a two-museum show during the month of February.

The Christian Brothers Historical Collection "500 Years of Wine in the Arts" is being brought here under the co-sponsorship of the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art and the Pacific Grove Museum of Natural History.

This unique collection, which has been exhibited at major museums across the United States and Canada, is so vast that no single art facility in this area is large enough to display it properly; hence, the decision to divide the show, with displays at two museums concurrently.

Even so, space limitations will prevent the entire collection from being shown, but "A Connoisseur's Selection" will be chosen by the collector, Norman Fromm, advisor of the Christian Brothers Wineries.

The exhibit was organized by Mrs. Mary Jane Spence, curator of the Monterey Peninsula Museum, and Vern Yaden, curator of the Pacific Grove Museum, and both have expressed their pleasure in being able to cooperate in bringing such an important collection to Monterey County.

"Wine in the Arts" will be featured at the Monterey Peninsula Museum, while the Pacific Grove Museum will display "Art in Wine-Making."

The former will stress the symbolic and mythological aspects of the grape as seen through the artists eyes, while the latter will emphasize the artistic elements of the wine-making process.

Both will contain works by the masters of all eras.

The collection of the Christian Brothers of California tells the story of wine through the ages, and includes works from the late 1400s to the present.

Collections such as this, devoted to the grape and wine, have existed in Europe for centuries, and in America the Christian Bros. have succeeded in building a collection which stands far above any comparable effort in this country. The Christian Bros. themselves are the largest body of men in the Catholic Church whose work is exclusively devoted to the field of education, teaching today in 78 countries. This Historical Collection, formed in their name, is therefore an integral part of the order's

'Yum Yum Tree' Opens at Studio

Next on view at the Studio Theatre-Restaurant in Carmel is the frothy comedy "Under The Yum Yum Tree," opening Jan. 31. Seldom has the stage offered a more engaging combination of rascal and charmer than Hogan, landlord of the Telegraph Hill apartment where the action takes place, whose forte is winning the romantic cooperation of a succession of female tenants.

Hogan, played on Broadway by Gig Young and in the movie by Jack Lemmon, anticipates a new conquest when divorcee Irene Wilson vacates the premises in favor of her niece Robin, a nubile Berkeley student.

Even when he learns that Robin proposes sharing the flat with a young lawyer, Dave Manning, as an experiment to test their compatibility on a strictly platonic basis before marriage, Hogan is not deterred.

Almost until the final curtain, author Lawrence Roman leaves the audience uncertain whether the conniving Hogan has scored again, meanwhile providing an abundance of funny and frequently hilarious dialogue, until in the end Robin is cured of playing with fire and Hogan... well, Hogan is still Hogan.

Directed by Dave Kirk, "Under The Yum Yum Tree" will run Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights at the Studio through March 15. Reservations for dinner and show or show alone may be made at 624-1661 or 624-2321.

traditions and its purpose.

Preview-receptions will be sponsored by the boards of both Museums on Saturday, Feb. 1. The preview hours at the Pacific Grove Museum are from 3 to 5 p.m. immediately followed by the opening at the Monterey Peninsula Museum from 5 to 7.

A special Wine-Tasting Party will be featured at the Monterey Peninsula Museum during the preview there.

Attendance is by invitation only, and is limited to members of both Associations and special guests.

The exhibition will be open to the public from Feb. 2 through Mar. 1.

The Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art is located on Lincoln St., between Ocean and 7th, in Carmel, and the gallery hours are from 11-5 Monday through Friday, 2-5 Saturday, and closed Sunday.

The Pacific Grove Museum of Natural History is located at the corner of Central and Forest Avenues in Pacific Grove, and it is open from 10-5 Tuesday through Sunday, and closed Mondays.

Our Schools

Margot Hyatt, Education Editor

Mrs. Howard P. (Katie) Hunter of Carmel writes: My husband is a United Airline pilot and he has never been able to take a vacation during the summer. Consequently we have had to take the children out of school during the winter.

She submitted the following article taken from the Observations column of The National Observer for Jan. 13, 1969:

It's a good idea, though hardly a novel one. Some educators have been pushing it for years, with less than overwhelming effect. Maybe now, with an advocate like Robert Finch, the nation may see a change in schooling that it has needed for years.

'Shaking Up' The Schools

Mr. Finch is President-elect Nixon's choice to be Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, the top Federal official involved in education matters. Last week he minced no words in urging that the country "shake up elementary and secondary education" to reduce the number of years children have to spend in school. This is the sort of educational reform parents and taxpayers can readily grasp, and Mr. Finch sees it as a distinct possibility—soon—through the use of computers, full scheduling of year-round classes, and staggered vacations.

Some attempts at this kind of shaking up have been made at the college level, but it has scarcely been tried in the public-school system. Despite dramatic advances in the how and what of teaching, expensive school buildings stand idle for three months of the year, and localities must continue to raise taxes and float bonds to build new, more expensive buildings. Teacher salaries continue to increase, as they no doubt should in many areas, and the need for good teachers increases too. More enlightened, year-round scheduling should mean more efficient use of manpower, alleviating the teacher shortage a bit and making better salaries somewhat easier to pay.

Considering the growing proportion of youngsters going on to college and graduate school, plus the continuing military obligation most young men face, many young people, in Mr. Finch's words, "stay out of the real world until their mid-20s."

This kind of reform, of course, won't solve the basic problems of American education; scheduling is a mechanical, administrative matter. But it can take some of the financial strain out of schooling, and it can clear the decks for concentration on more substantial education questions. We wish Mr. Finch luck in leading the fight.

Mrs. Hunter includes an excerpt from the Oregon Journal published in Portland, 25 June 1968 issue:

Board members heard from a teachers' committee which has studied a possible "extended school year". Board member John Beatty Jr. expressed the belief that "in the long run the school system will have to have a virtually year-around program."

First Horse Show Sleepy Hollow Farm

Sleepy Hollow Farm (formerly Rancho Point Lobos) presents its first horse show at its new location, off Robinson Canyon Rd., Carmel Valley, all day Sunday on Feb. 2, beginning at 8:30 a.m.

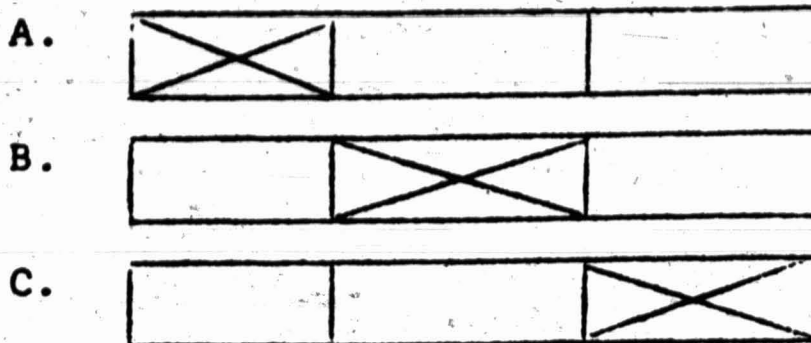

There will be divisions in working hunters, pony hunters, jumpers, equitation and other classes.

The public is invited to watch.

For information and entries call Sue Sally Hale at 624-4530, Betsy Risser at 624-9688 or Gale Henderson at 624-2476.

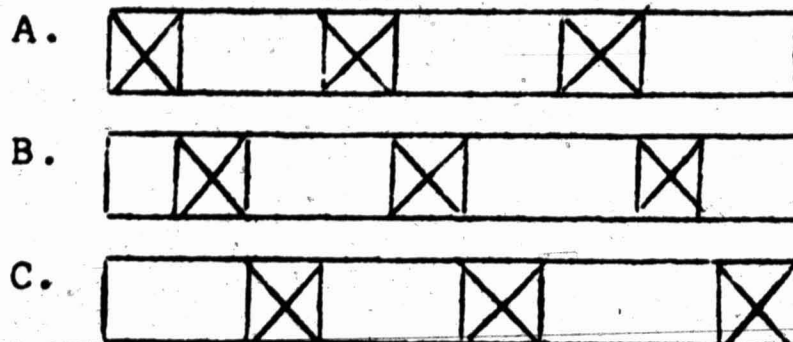

On Sunday, Jan. 26, Sleepy Hollow Polo Club, reorganized from the former Point Lobos Polo Club, will present the first polo game of the year. The public is invited at 2 p.m.

Trimester Consecutive

Vacations blocked by "mester"

Staggered

Vacations distributed--total up to 1 "mester"

Diagrams of generalized trimester school and vacation plans which may be modified in any way, as submitted by the Carmel School Board All-Year-School Citizens' Committee. The trimester plan would increase school capacity by 1/2. Although the plan would save tax money in the long run since it staves off new school construction and the necessary staffing, it is initially more expensive due to the extensive planning necessary.

A letter from Ann Gamble, Carmel:

I am twelve years old, and in the seventh grade. I for one would not like to have an "All Year School".

I know it is a matter of not having enough room for all the students, but I think that the boys and girls should have a vacation, and an experience away from home, if possible.

For the last four years, I have gone to camp for eight weeks during the summer. I feel it is a good experience, and I would hate to give it up. I can only have this experience during the summer, and if we had an "All Year School," I would probably miss this.

Thank you very much for your letter, Ann. Of course you should have a vacation and experience away from home.

In my limited space, I perhaps did not make it clear that if such a plan were adopted, families would have the option of choosing a fall, spring or summer vacation, or several short vacations.

Many ski enthusiasts long to get away during the winter months; others like to visit Mexico when it isn't so hot; or Hawaii when it isn't so crowded.

Many business people here cannot get away in summer and would like to take winter vacations with their families.

Comments of readers both in Carmel and elsewhere in the country where the All-Year-School is in operation are invited. Margot Hyatt, c/o The Carmel Pine Cone, Box G-1, Carmel, Calif.

Need for Day Care Centers to Free Mothers for Work Training Told

Several types of day care programs were described at the League of Women Voters luncheon meeting at Pacific Grove Community Center Jan. 16.

The need for more day care centers to free mothers for work or work training so that they could be removed from welfare rolls was expressed.

A survey of mothers on welfare by Rev. H. H. Lusk who started Operation Shoe-string in Seaside last summer, disclosed that four out of five expressed a strong desire for jobs and training if they could be assured of good child care they could afford, and transportation.

Rev. Lusk has applied for state help in establishing four all-day neighborhood centers for pre-school children.

Teachers will be aided by students receiving inservice training from the University of California.

A new work incentive program called WIN in which all employable welfare recipients are required to take regular employment, to be placed in manpower programs designed to prepare them for employment, or to work on special work projects of a useful public nature, was described. Need for day care centers in order to remove mothers from welfare was underlined. M. H.

'Unusual' Weaving

On Monday, Jan. 27, at 2 p.m. the Carmel Woman's Club will have a most unusual and delightful program given by Mary Buskirk. Her slides depict the manner in which she introduces unusual fabrics and solids to create pictures on her loom.

Mrs. Buskirk is well-known in the mid-west as having organized the weaving department of the Cleveland Museum of Art and in winning an award at the University of Nebraska in Contemporary Hand-weaving.

She has exhibited nationally and some of her works are owned by the Victoria and Albert Museum in London, the Brooks Memorial in Memphis, the Joslyn Museum in Omaha, and the Oakland Museum here in California.

Parent-Faculty Club

Gwendolyn Mays, director of the new SPCA animal shelter, the exciting person who uses a tranquilizer gun on animals, will speak to the Parent-Faculty Club at Woods School on Tuesday, Jan. 28, at 7:30 p.m.

Children and the public are welcome at the program at which she will show slides of the wild animal game reserve there.

THE CROSBY PRO-AM SCOREBOARD IS BACK AGAIN!

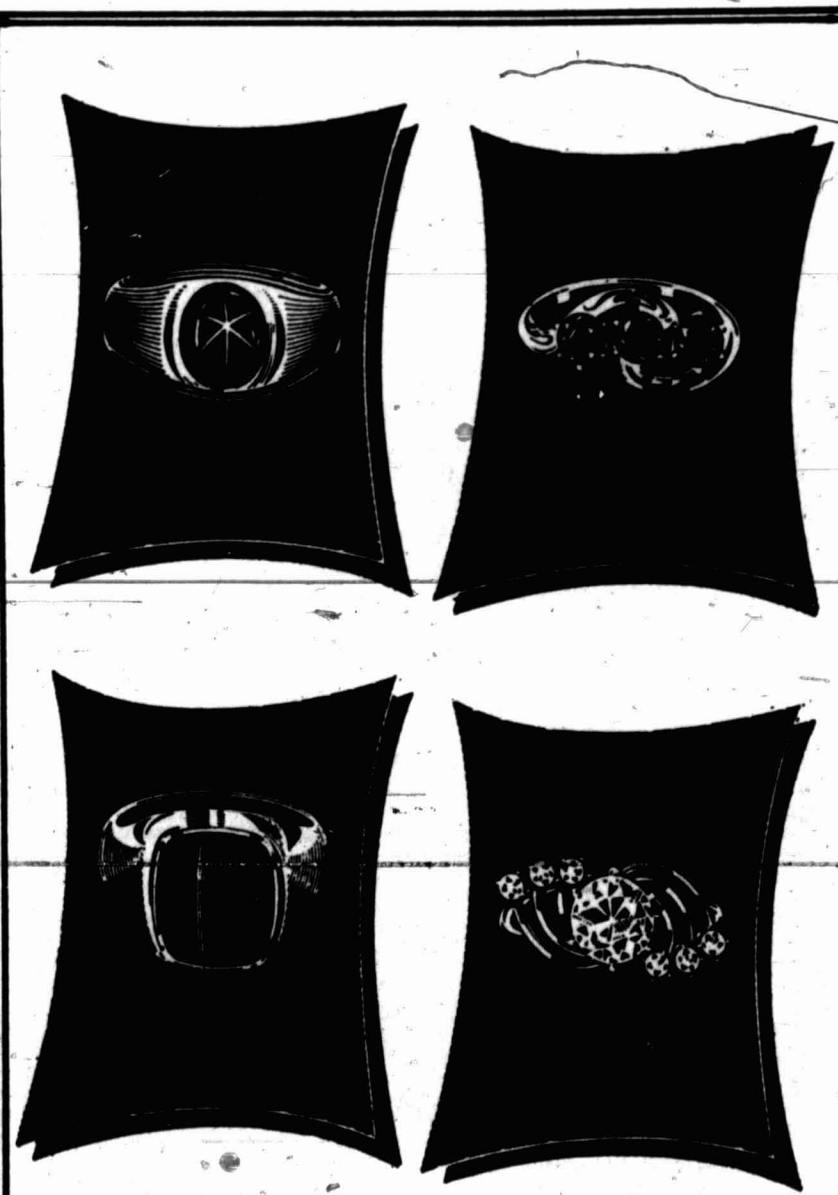

The Casa Munras Garden Hotel brought real convenience to golf fans during the Bing Crosby National Pro-Am Golf Tournament last year. The hotel management set up a scoreboard 60 feet long in the Castilian Room of the Casa to record "instant scores" on each golfer as he completed a round. In the past, only top-contenders' scores have been immediately available in downtown Monterey. Here hotel owner Jack McCubbin and Manager Helen Burger are shown with last year's Casa Scoreboard.

The only complete current scoreboard on the Monterey Peninsula (other than the master scoreboard at Pebble Beach) will again make CASA MUNRAS HOTEL Crosby tournament headquarters for those who can't follow the contests right on the greens. Why not join them at the Casa during the 28th annual Crosby Pro-Am Tournament, January 23-26, 1969.

LOUIS ZWAALLEN

A Restaurant Francaise In Carmel

Le Coq D'or, Restaurant Francaise, is a newcomer to the Carmel Pine Cone Restaurant Guide.

Dining here on Mission between 4th and 5th is reminiscent of dining in a typical intimate, Paris restaurant.

Le Coq D'or is operated by Louis and Clary Zwaalen.

Louis is the chef and the reason for the delicious food.

He served his apprenticeship in Lausanne, Switzerland, and completed the required study of many courses and the passing of many examinations before he was graduated.

Louis has been a chef at the Semiramis Hotel, on the Nile in Cairo, and the Kulm Hotel in St. Moritz.

His first experience in the United States was as chef for the Swiss Exhibition at the World's Fair in 1939. He then decided to settle in this country.

Later he was chef at the Boca Raton Club near Palm Springs and the Green Briar Hotel in West Virginia.

Louis and Clary married 19 years ago.

She is also from Switzerland and an excellent hostess.

Clary makes you feel welcome and further maintains the French atmosphere to go with her husband's cooking.

Prices are reasonable and eating at Le Coq D'or once will make you want to come back.

(See Le Coq D'or ad in the Restaurant Guide, page 7).

Ellet to Sing

The Carmel Foundation Town House program for Wednesday, Jan. 29, will be a song recital by Mrs. Alexander Ellet, soprano.

Mrs. Ellet has been active in National Federation of Music Clubs, a choir director, teacher of voice and church soloist. She concertized widely throughout the states of Iowa and Colorado, also in the Chicago area.

She will be accompanied on the piano by Miss Gladys Edlund who recently retired from the Stockton schools as consultant of vocal music.

The program will begin at 2:30 p.m. Tea will be served after and all interested persons are welcome.

OBITUARY

Faye A. Roberts, 66, who operated the Thrift Food Store for 14 years died Dec. 29. He and his wife Myrtle lived at Serra and Guadalupe streets in Carmel Woods.

He leaves two sons, Larry Roberts of San Jose and Ron Roberts of Carmel; two stepsons, Jack Orchard of Carmel and Neil Orchard of Rancho Cordova; and nine grandchildren. Friends wishing to make contributions in his memory may do so to the Central Mission Trails Heart Association, P.O. Box 300, Carmel.

'Nursery School' New MPC Course

"The Nursery School Program," a new course designed for present and potential nursery school teachers and aides, will be offered as "Home Economics 65A" Wednesdays, 2:10 to 5 p.m., during Monterey Peninsula College's spring semester, according to Mary Rile, MPC home economics department chairman.

Prerequisite for the three-unit course is Home Economics 30 (Child Development), which was initiated in the spring, 1968, semester and will be offered again this spring; or permission of instructor Mary Crawford, who may be reached at the college or at 372-6626.

"The Nursery School Program" will include a study of the early education of young children in the nursery school; the objectives, philosophy, curriculum and physical plant of the nursery school; and home-school relationships and teaching techniques. The course, of which a second semester is planned for next year, is designed to meet the recommendations for training preschool teachers and aides.

Mrs. Crawford, for 13 years director of the MPC-affiliated Monterey Cooperative Nursery School, is a graduate of Occidental College who earned her master's degree at Columbia University Teachers College.

To register, prospective students may make application now at the college administration building. Registration will be possible, if openings are still available, until Feb. 5, at the first class meeting.

Salvation Army's Activities Told

New member Sam Solerno was welcomed into Carmel's Lions Club at its regular weekly meeting Thursday evening.

The speaker for the meeting was Lt. John Waterton, commanding officer of the Monterey Peninsula Corps of the Salvation Army.

Waterton thanked the citizens of the area who helped to provide Christmas baskets for more than 500 families and the SCRAMP for the Christmas party which entertained 800 children.

Waterton also described the Salvation Army's activities in the area which included sending 65 children for one week each to a summer camp; manning of men's social service centers; picking up and distributing donated clothing; disaster aid; maintaining homes for unwed mothers, and searching for and returning young people who have left their homes.

Waterton said this last item is particularly acute in this area because Big Sur has become known throughout the world of young people as "the place to be." Usually when they arrive they are soon disappointed when they find the glamor they were expecting depends on narcotics.

An ad in the Pine Cone has a 7-times-better chance to be read than an ad in a daily newspaper.

Shelton Painting—

"Cowboy" by Howard Shelton

New Shelton Studio Gallery In Carmel

by Louise Cook

Harold Shelton's Studio Gallery is located in the Mall on San Carlos St. near 6th, in Carmel. Mr. Shelton's primary interest is in painting sea scenes which he does with skill and imagination. He paints the sea in various moods and intensities of color, some reduced to an oil portrayal in only black and white.

When Mr. Shelton experiments in other subject matter he indulges in a freer hand. His convincing portrait of a lean and self-possessed cowboy has strength and style.

His modern daisies done in heavy impasto have a charming spontaneity. A melon and salt shaker is done with extreme realism and shows striking contrasts of color.

Shelton paints also conventional mountain and desert scenes.

A former commercial artist, we wish him well in his plunge into the artistic world of Carmel.

Meeting Postponed

The general meeting and dinner of the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art, originally scheduled for Tuesday, Jan. 28, has been postponed until Feb. 26 due to the prevalence of the Hong Kong flu on the Peninsula.

The La Playa Hotel will be the scene of the postponed meeting, and the reservation deadline has been moved to Feb. 17.

All members and others interested in the organization should plan to attend, since an announcement of importance will be made.

Community Church Youth Group Sets Leaders For 1969

IKTHYS, the high school age group of the Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula held the first meeting of the year under the sponsorship of their new leaders, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Harber, and elected the following officers: president, Randy Douglas; vice-president, Catherine Saake; secretary, Lynn Powers; treasurer, Don Beckmeyer, and worship chairman, Susie Oshida.

Plans were made for the group's participation in an Easter Week trip to Mexico, together with the youth groups from Sequel Congregational Church and Bass Lake Community Church.

They, and their adult sponsors, will camp out on the beach at Ensenada, and will spend their days at two nearby orphanages, where they will conduct a Bible school and play sessions.

In preparation for this venture, they are diligently studying a Spanish conversational text and hope to be reasonably proficient by the time they depart.

As a continuing project, the group is planning to make monthly visits to Carmel Convalescent Hospital.

'Waiting for Godot' at Forest Theater Masterpiece of Invention and Color

By Margot Hyatt

The Young Artists' Theatre composed of past and present drama students from Monterey Peninsula College proved that they were just that this past weekend.

Following an interesting sound and color film experiment created by photographer Dave Allen, they put on the controversial "Waiting for Godot" by Samuel Beckett.

This first, "Let Us Begin," inspired by the voice and words of President Kennedy, with background songs by Simon and Garfunkel, Donovan and The Beatles, gave some insight into today's problems and the reactions of young people to them.

Director Ron Guillemette's interpretation of the far-out play, "Waiting for Godot" like his "In White America" at MPC last fall, was a joy to watch.

Instead of the usual stark presentation of the frequently mystifying and sometimes dull conversation, he had invented all sorts of fascinating action to support the provocative dialogue.

Characterizations created by Jeffrey Jennings and Dean Funk of the two interdependent humans who wait for Godot (or God as some would have it) who never comes, were extremely interesting. Their colorful "now" costumes were most effective as lighted by Joe Salome.

Jean Rousseau, with whip, Russian blouse, top hat and tails, suggested caricatures of both totalitarianism and unbridled capitalism, in his role as brutal master of his slave.

Wendy Grissim, her long hair almost completely covering her face, recreated the little Charles Adams character in her interpretation of the slave. Her sound effects were amazing.

Young Eric Jennings, the goat herd in top hat and tails, who brought messages from Godot, set off all sorts of thoughts about the pomp and ceremony of the church which professes to be based on humble obedience and fear of God.

Ruth Jordan Allan and Andrea Spark were responsible for the set. Jolen Bowen served as house manager.

A discussion followed the performance. Young people will go for this play which was recently put on at the high school. Older people might do well to give a look if they would like to have a better understanding of young people.

The play will be performed for the next two weekends on Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings beginning at 8:30 p.m.

Pam Martin To Be Married

The engagement of Pam Martin, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Martin of Carmel Hills, to Ted Davalos of Santa Fe, New Mexico was announced this week.

A Carmel High School graduate, Pam is in her junior year at the University of New Mexico. She has a brother Roderic, and she is the granddaughter of Mrs. Carmel Martin Sr. of Monterey and the late Mr. Martin.

Ted is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel P. Davalos of Santa Fe.

He will receive his bachelor's degree in architecture this June from the University of New Mexico. He plans to enter graduate school in the fall.

No date as yet has been set for the wedding.

Deborah Russell Marries Ian Heath

St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church in Carmel Valley was setting for the wedding, Jan. 11, of Deborah Gail Russell and Ian Malcolm Heath. The Rev. James Brock performed the two o'clock ceremony.

Deborah is the daughter of Mrs. Ted Kezeli of Carmel Valley, while Ian is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter J. Baxter of Hitchcock Canyon.

Dressed in a short white lace gown with high neck and long sleeves, Deborah carried a bouquet of white carnations and stephanotis. She was attended by Behnoosh Satoodeh of Carmel.

Mr. Baxter served as his son's best man, Capt. A. Yensan (ret) and Kieth Baxter, the groom's brother, led wedding guests to their seats.

Both Deborah and Ian attended Carmel High School. They are both studying data processing at Monterey Peninsula College. They hope to live in Australia when they finish.

Denver Wedding for Sheila Work

The wedding of Sheila Work, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Work of Pebble Beach, to Jeffrey Paul Knight of Denver, Colorado took place on Dec. 28 her parents announce.

The young couple were married at The Cross of Glory Lutheran Church in Denver where they will continue to live.

Sheila has been teaching elementary school in Denver following her degree in education from Temple Buell College there. She is a graduate of Santa Catalina School for Girls.

Jeffrey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Taylor Knight of Webster City, Iowa. He attended the University of Colorado.

Her sister is Julie Work Beck of Carmel Valley.

Diane Paddleford Married

The wedding of Diane Beatrice Paddleford who attended Carmel High School took place Jan. 18 in San Francisco. She married Dr. Michael Terpinas at Holy Trinity Greek Orthodox Church.

The daughter of George S. Paddleford of Palo Alto and the late Mrs. Constance Paddleford, Diane attended Sarah Dix Hamlin School and the University of Geneva.

She has one sister, Donna, and three brothers, George S. Jr., Robert and Henry.

Her husband is on the teaching staff at the U.C. Medical Center in San Francisco.

Diaper Set

Mr. and Mrs. Michael L. Smith of Carmel are the parents of a baby girl, Alexandra Michelle, born Dec. 17.

'Nicky' Partch Wed

Word comes of the marriage of Nicholas Merriel Partch, son of the noted cartoonist, Virgil Partch and Mrs. Partch, to Donna Lee Gulpac. The Rex Whites of Carmel Valley attended the wedding.

Nicky attended Tulareitos School in Carmel Valley in the late '40's.

NIGHT LIFE—Japanese fishermen have employed cormorants and flares for generations. The birds have a ring around their neck to prevent them swallowing the fish, and the fisherman, who controls several birds at one time on lines, merely forces the fish out of the cormorant's neck and into the boat.

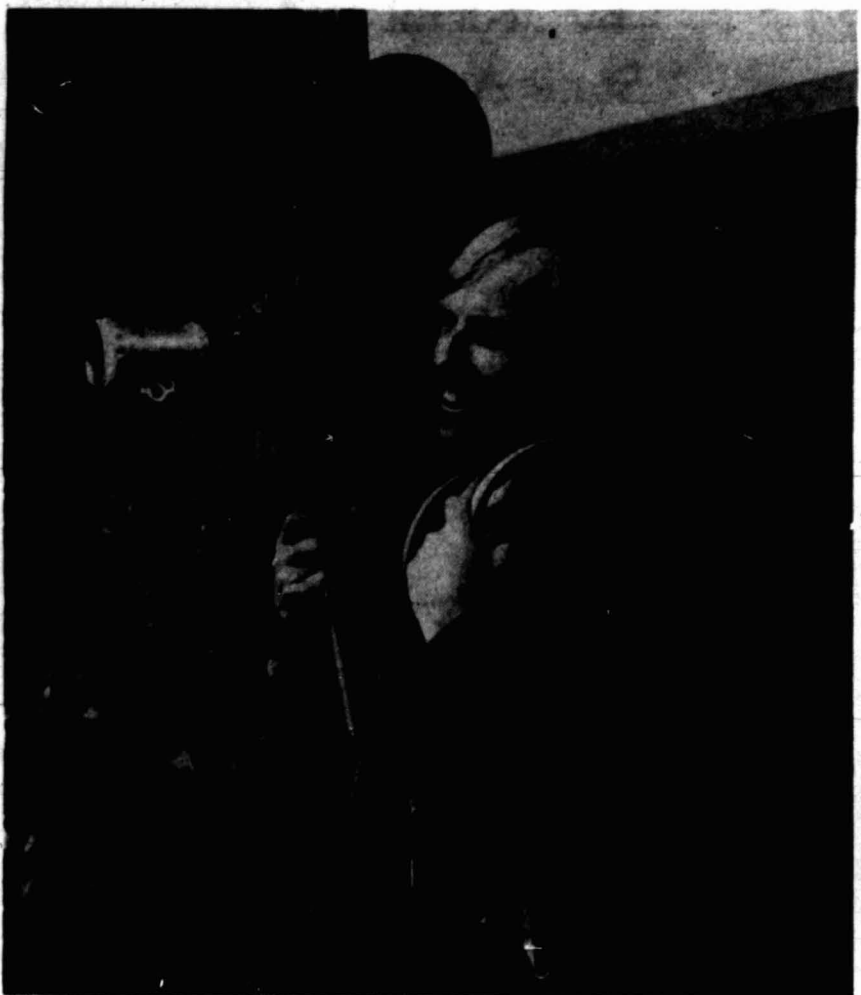

'Japan' Next Explorerama Offering

The Explorers Club of San Francisco has announced the second program of their current Explorerama series of professionally produced, feature-length, color, travel and adventure films which they are currently presenting at Sunset Auditorium in Carmel.

"The People of Japan" a new film, will be narrated in person by its photographer Gene Wiancko at 8:15 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 25.

The two-hour color film is full of human interest and it presents significant aspects of Japanese customs, ceremonies, artistry, religion and entertainment.

The film is shot in a special new color process which features the vivid pastel shades that the Japanese are famous for.

AWARD WINNER—Robert Blaisdell, cameraman for Black Lion Productions, has just been presented the "Chris Award" from the Columbia Film Festival for his work in "Country of the Mind."

Blaisdell Honored For Camera Work

Robert Blaisdell of Black Lion Productions at the Carmel Sunset Center, and Ronald Bostwick, co-producer, were recently presented with the "Chris Award" from the Columbia Film Festival in the category of education for their film "Country of the Mind."

The film was financed by Frohman Productions, Inc. of Monterey. Blaisdell has also just received three participating awards from the San Francisco Film Festival.

The three films that were judged and selected to be shown were, "Trojan Horse," a story of Fredric Hobbs, San Francisco sculptor; "Sea Coast," a visual tone-poem about the sea coast around Carmel; and "Coastlands," a visual experience of the Big Sur Country.

Robert Blaisdell is also working on two other films.

He is preparing a film with poet Eric Barker on Pt. Lobos.

The other film is an unusual educational film on the Indian Burial Grounds and the lost Indian Village of "San Jose" near the Carmelite Monastery.

He is working with Eleanor Wallace of Carmel, who is writing the songs and she will do the accompaniment. She played and sung "Songs of the Middle Way" a record sponsored by the Carmel Arts Commission. Randy Reinstedt is co-producer of this film.

Movie Review

The Night They Raided Minsky's — Jason Robards and Norman Wisdom as comics, Denholm Elliot as a blue-nose and Britt Ekland as a most innocent ecdysiast (stripper, baby, stripper). Bert Lahr, Forrest Tucker and Harry Andrews are in the cast.

A Twist of Sand — Africa, hidden diamonds and other tried and true adventure stuff. Richard Johnson, Honor Blackman and Jeremy Kemp. Filmed on location on the coast of Africa.

Skidoo — Otto Preminger directed this comedy-satire shot mostly in San Francisco and the Bay area. The cast is loaded with familiar names, even down to Groucho Marx playing God. No foolin'.

Benjamin — Funny French farce about life in the 18th Century. Pierre Clementi is great as a callow youth who visits his wealthy aunt (Michele Morgan), who initiates him into the life in her fashionable chateau.

Don't Raise the Bridge, Lower the River — Jerry Lewis plays a wheeler-dealer who loses his wife because of his continuing harebrained money-making schemes, none of which seem to make money. However, one does, she returns, clinch and fade-out.

Horse In The Gray Flannel Suit — Walt Disney comedy about a gray horse, star of a Madison Avenue advertising campaign, who becomes a contestant in the Washington International Horse Show.

Finders Keepers, Lovers Weepers — Exploration of the general disintegration of American Society, produced and directed by Russ Meyer, who gave us "Lorna," "Faster, Pussycat, Kill Kill," and other declamations of sex and violence.

2001: A Space Odyssey — Far reaches of space explored in this splendid, highly imaginative science-fiction production. Keir Dullea, Gary Lockwood. Wonderful entertainment.

Coogan's Bluff — Clint Eastwood as an Arizona lawman who comes to New York to take a killer back to the West. Believe it or not, there isn't a single horse in the picture, even though it's classified as a western.

Candy — Just about everybody in Hollywood shows up in this including Marlon Brando, Richard Burton, Walter Mathau and Ringo Starr. Script by Buck Henry, who wrote "The Graduate."

Theatre Guide

The Roar of Grease Paint, Smell of the Crowd—Comedy musical - drama about the haves and the don't haves. Great entertainment at the Circle, playing to packed houses. This is the theatrical season in Carmel, so reservations for all live performances in town, please.

Guys and Dolls — Damon Runyon's Broadway smash concerning a floating crap game, a Salvation Army lassie and lots of guys and their dolls. Runyonese became a part of the American scene with the success of this musical.

PARTY PLANS . . .

by Phyllis Jervey

"Clams for Fans"

Coordinating "The Crosby" with "Explorers Carmel" this famous weekend results in clams for fans of both popular events.

For regular Carmel-version entertainment, there is the Explorers Club feature "The People of Japan" at Sunset Auditorium on Saturday, Jan. 25 at 8:15 p.m.

For the Pro-Ams there is "Golf, People, Food".

Combine both and we have hostesses trying to outvie one another with specialties of their own invention.

For parties cannot survive without nourishment both liquid and solid.

The liquid part is entirely optional, although in the spirit of fair play, may we include clam juice or broth doctored up with whatever you prefer . . . tomato, V-8, carrot, sauerkraut juice or anything else? Some Worcestershire, Tabasco, bitters, celery salt . . . spiked, then soothed with the freshest of Carmel Valley raw eggs?

Using "Japanese Cuisine" by John D. Keys, published by Charles E. Tuttle of Tokyo, as our culinary guide, we offer clam dishes ideally suited for this weekend's parties.

Starting with Tokyo, we find that party menus and service are rather complex in the venerable Japanese tradition. But the Japanese are masters at assimilation, and today in Tokyo modified dishes are served without the old classic formulae. The following is especially adapted for a quick pick-me-up (pre-or-after golf or theater)

Clams dressed with Vinegared Miso (Hamaguri su-miso)

One cup shucked clams; 3 T. rice vinegar or distilled cider vinegar; 1 T. peanut butter; 1 t. powdered mustard; scallion.

Scald the shucked clams in boiling salted water 1 min. Drain and allow to cool. Cut the scallion (green onion with tops) obliquely into 1-inch lengths. Parboil 1 min. and drain; cool.

Mix the powdered mustard with a little cold water to form smooth paste. Combine mustard, miso, rice vinegar and peanut butter. Mix until smooth.

In small individual porcelain or lacquer bowls, arrange a few pieces of scallion; over this place a few clams, then top all with 2 T. vinegared miso sauce. Use canned clams in shells if necessary.

Chiba, on the east side of Tokyo Bay, is noted for its fine clams. During spring tides, families dig for them on the beaches.

On the delta of the nearby

Edo River stand many shucking houses; there "mukimiya-san," women dressed in blue and white uniforms with tight sleeves, diligently shuck various kinds of clams native to Japanese waters.

These are served boiled in soy-sauce, vinegared or used to make sushi (Japanese rice with vinegar and flavorings.)

In Chiba the great specialty is hama-yaki (fresh clams baked in their shells, coated with salt. How about producing these as your clambake prize? Or else serve forth with eclat:

Clams simmered in Soy and Ginger (Asari no shoga-ni)

One cup shucked clams; 4 thin slices ginger root; 3 T. soy sauce; 1 T. sugar.

Rinse shucked clams in salted water; drain well. Place them in a saucepan together with the sliced ginger, soy sauce and sugar. Cover and simmer 5 minutes. Do not overcook clams. Like anything else tender and delicate they toughen. Serve in small bowls.

Situated some miles south of Wakayama, on the Kii Peninsula, is Shiraham Hot Springs, a favorite spot with honeymooners (as is Carmel). The Japanese spa is famous for the mildness of its climate (let's hope the same for the Crosby) and the beauty of its seascape, the ocean breezes cooling the evenings. The following is a work of art. Imagine sprinkling the under dish with fresh pine needles, the fragrance of the pine blending with the clams, resulting in a really aesthetic creation. Quite up our artistic alley!

Clams Baked Over Salt (Horoku-yaki)

One dozen, each small clams, unshucked, and shrimp, unshelled; 1 lb. fresh mushrooms; 1 cup canned ginkgo nuts, drained; 1/2 cup, each, fresh lemon juice and soy sauce; fresh pine needles; chopped scallion.

Combine lemon juice and soy sauce; pour into individual sauce dishes. Scrub the clams and sever ligaments; wash shrimp but do not shell them. Slice mushrooms lengthwise into thirds.

Prepare a large, shallow pyrex or earthenware dish by lining it with a 1/2-inch of rock salt. Place the dish in 350 F. oven until salt is hot. Remove dish and sprinkle with a few fresh pine needles, then arrange the clams, shrimp, mushrooms and ginkgo nuts over this. Ginkgo nuts are available canned.

Cover the dish tightly with heavy duty foil and return to oven for about 20 minutes. Remove foil and serve the dish with prepared lemon-juice and soy sauce and chopped scallion. A superb rendition.

An especially delightful salad which Californians enjoy is this Japanese inspiration of

Clams with Sliced Cucumber (Kyuri-namasu)

One cup shucked clams; 1 cucumber; 1/4 cup sesame seeds; 5/6 cup rice or distilled cider vinegar; 2 T.

each, soy sauce and sugar. Toast the sesame seeds in a dry pan until they begin to jump. Chop them in a nut chopper. Combine 1/3 cup rice vinegar, 2 T. soy sauce and sugar, each; add sesame seeds. Mix well then strain dressing into a cup.

Clean the shucked clams and cut into small pieces. Pour 1/2 cup rice vinegar over them, toss lightly, and allow to marinate for 15 minutes; drain. Pare the cucumber and slice as thin as possible; sprinkle lightly with salt and Ajinomoto (monosodium glutamate). Combine the drained clams and cucumber, and arrange in small bowls. Pour the prepared sesame dressing over the individual salads. If desired, watercress sprigs may be added.

As a finale contribution and accolade, "Party Plans" signs off with ed clams; 1 egg white; salt; fresh pine needles; rice wine or dry sherry; Ajinomoto.

Baked Clams with Salt Coating (Yaki-hamaguri)

One dozen fresh unshuck-clams!

Scrub the clams. Slip a knife between the shell of each clam and carefully sever the ligament. Smear the shell of each clam with egg white, then roll in a dish of salt, covering the shells completely with a layer of salt.

Bake the clams in a 425 F. oven for 5 minutes. Lift up the top shell of each clam and sprinkle the flesh with a little rice wine or sherry and Ajinomoto or Accent, then close the shells. Avoid spilling any of the clam liquor during the process.

Arrange 3 clams on each small serving dish and sprinkle with a few fresh pine needles. Serve immediately as an hors d'oeuvre with tiny oyster forks. Each recipe serves four.

Twisted Monterey Cypress, splashing ocean waves, salt air . . . and clams, clams.

CROSBY'S PLAZA JEWELERS

Pine cones, exquisite and delicately - shaped make delightful remembrances of Carmel.

Made of 14-karat gold these artistic delights of jewelry have varied uses and are available at Crosby's Plaza Jewelers. Crosby's has pine cone charms, pendants, earrings and brooches. Carmel Plaza, P.O. Box 5217, Carmel.

NIELSEN BROTHERS MARKET

Nielsen Brothers is featuring a large selection of collector's bottles in unique shapes and sizes. The collection includes bottles by Jim Beam, J. W. Dant and the imported Luvardo bottles. There are over 140 of these beautiful Luvardo decantors in Venetian glass, porcelain and majolica imported to the United States from Italy. Nielsen Brothers carries a large variety of these. Their bottle collection boasts a variety of unusual shapes ranging from fish and ducks to horses and elephants and even just bottle-shaped and all beautifully decorated.

For your shopping convenience Nielsen Brothers also carries a complete supply of groceries, meats, wines, liquors and gourmet foods. Dolores & 7th. P.O. Box H, Carmel.

THE MONTEREY ACADEMY OF HAIR DESIGN

The Monterey Academy of Hair Design can fix your hair when you need it because no appointments are necessary. Mrs. Ogawa, owner of the beauty school, teaches her students the Pivot Point method to help you in getting the loveliest hair creations possible.

Students do all the work under licensed supervision. The school offers a budget clinic and also features a wig boutique. Pictured is student Donna Dickens arranging a coiffure for student Susan Du Bets. 270 Del Monte Center.

THE FINISHING TOUCH

The Finishing Touch, just recently opened in Carmel, features the artistic talents of Mrs. Jo Grace Foltz, A.I.D. Mrs. Foltz is combining her interior decorating skills with the accessories she will feature in her shop.

Pictured are two lovely reproductions of old French desks highlighted by two quality lamps. An antique chandelier adds further atmosphere. The articles are set off by a real adobe wall which adds to the refreshing atmosphere of the shop.

Complete interior design service is a specialty of The Finishing Touch. The newly opened shop will also feature pigskin vinyl custom flooring, carpeting and draperies, in addition to a large selection of unusual lamps. Mrs. Foltz features both antiques and reproductions in the accessory lines. Dolores near 5th, P.O. Box 1836, Carmel.

Looking for that special gift for an anniversary, wedding, birthday or any occasion you want to remember with a "special touch?"

Dorothea and Paul Shoemaker, new owners of Shoemakers-Special Gifts, located in the convenient shop so long occupied by Denslow's, offer a wide selection of crystal, china, tableware, art objects and unusual gifts from foreign and domestic sources. They will gift wrap and mail any place you wish. Lincoln St. just south of Ocean, P.O. Box 721, Carmel.

PARSONS OF CARMEL

Parsons of Carmel features a French provincial desk dating back to the early 1700's. Elegance unsurpassed, this regal piece of furniture is but one of many lovely selections in antique furniture that Parsons of Carmel features.

On the top of the desk to the left is a sculpture of a Chinese court lady fashioned from aventurine. The Chinese jewel tree on the right is a lovely antique that will add beauty to any room. Sixth Ave. between San Carlos & Dolores. P.O. Box 724, Carmel.

BAKER'S INTERIORS

20% Up To 50% Off On Everything!

Baker's is offering magnificent sales on everything in their show room from elegant plush chairs to exotic lamps and quality rugs. Featured are two armless fireside chairs in a blue and gold design with 20% off the regular price. The lamp on the table is also on sale.

Some of the other items on sale include soft, luxurious throw pillows, end tables, all-wool area rugs in either an orange, olive and gold tone or in a green tone. There is also an oriental-design rug made in Belgium by Couristan.

Another special, rich in elegance, is a French provincial dining room set. The table has a burl top with a walnut finish and the high cone back chairs have seat cushions of green nylon velvet. Located on Mission & 8th, Baker's features upholstery and draperies and also designs complete interiors. Mission & 8th. P.O. Box 44, Carmel.

POT-POURRI

These delicate but sturdy slippers in vibrant colors are imported from Turkey and are but one of the many types of distinct gifts available at Pot-Pourri. Specializing in Pot-Pourri, "a little of everything," the shop features unique and beautifully made items from many countries. Some of these items include soft hand-woven blankets from Persia and India, Greek tote bags, English china, some antique dishware and French Moroccan hassocks. Pot-Pourri also features jewelry from Lebanon, America, Turkey, Mexico and Czechoslovakia.

There are shells from Hawaii, fashioned into napkin rings and scarf rings, incense burners from India and finely crafted carving sets also from India. Each piece comes in a hand-worked wooden case. 374 Del Monte Center.

SYLVIA'S DANISH PASTRY SHOP

For the richness of fine pastries Sylvia's Danish Pastry Shop has many delicious treats to offer you. Their speciality is Danish pastry, which the owner, Ole Blem makes himself. Some of their specialties include the fruit-filled Wienerbrod, or the crisp, golden Danish waffle, filled with buttercream and raspberry jam. Other favorites include Gugelhoupf, the Austrian pound cake, Danish butter rings, rum balls, chocolate macaroons and seven different kinds of Danish sugar cookies. They also feature delicious cheese bread and white and fruit breads in addition to pumpkin and apple pies. Sixth and Dolores. P.O. Box 4343, Carmel.

HANSEL & GRETEL

A Crosby tournament special for those who like good candy—peanut brittle, usually $1.00 a lb. will sell for only $.69 a pound starting today and continuing through the 26th at Hansel & Gretel's. The one candy store in Carmel that makes all its own candies right on the premises Hansel & Gretel offers a number of delectable sweets for those who enjoy delicious candy.

Mr. Robotti, owner of the shop, makes all the candy himself, and some of his specialties include a wide assortment of nuts roasted by a process he invented himself. There are varieties in both the salted and unsalted.

Other delectable mouth-watering treats include ice sherbets and caramel corn. Hansel & Gretel's welcomes wholesale accounts as well as retail. Sixth & Lincoln, P.O. 271, Carmel.

Carmel Inn Takes On New Look, Purpose In Jan. 20 Opening

One of Carmel's landmarks is taking on a new look, and a new purpose.

The Carmel Inn, long a fixture on San Carlos between 7th and 8th, is the scene of feverish activity as craftsmen put the finishing touches on the completely refurbished building prior to a projected opening Jan. 30.

When it does open, it will be as the Carmel Inn for Seniors, a rest home catering to the discriminating elderly who desire luxury, safety, 24-hour professional care and complete convenience.

The Inn will initially provide private rooms for 15 guests, each room supplied with color TV and a complete communications system.

Only two or three of the rooms are being furnished at this time, and guests who plan to take up residence in the new installation may bring their own furniture or consult with the owners and select their own decor and furnishings, a privilege seldom offered in a rest home of this type.

"We think that the little things are the ones that add up to total enjoyment of the environment," says Mrs. Janet Sylvester, a registered nurse who will oversee the entire operation of the rest home.

"We will provide our guests with plenty of color and atmosphere, make available every sort of activity so that they may choose those that interest them from a wide variety offered."

The Carmel Inn will make arrangements with the Carmel Foundation for its guests to become members of the Foundation and participate in the many cultural, social and entertaining events offered.

The proximity of the Inn to the Sunset Center makes it an ideal place for active senior citizens to reside, and made as fire safe as possible by the installation of a sprinkler system throughout the structure, the construction of a fire tunnel sheathed in fire-resistant sheetrock, and multiple exits both upstairs and down.

The main lounge has been tastefully decorated with deep carpeting, a renovated fireplace and oil paintings by local Carmel artists.

And the little things. Mrs. Sylvester recognizes that many elderly people get by with little sleep, so guests of the Carmel Inn who arise early may have their breakfast at any time they want, whether it is 3 a.m. or 5 a.m. or 9 a.m.

The dining facilities are set in sunny, cheerful surroundings adjoining the building's enclosed garden-patio, one of the outstanding attractions of the new Inn.

The building has been the two short blocks into the center of Carmel adds to its attractiveness.

Additional performances will be given this Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings at 8:30 p.m. with repeat showings next weekend.

Tickets are available at the Forest Theater, Mountain View and Santa Rita Streets, Carmel, prior to each performance. For advance reservations call Dave Allen at 375-8713.

Gene Wiancko, who photographed this feature-length color film, will be present to narrate the story of "The People of Japan."

The film presents significant aspects of Japanese customs, ceremonies, art, entertainment and religion, and displays the remarkable temperament and philosophy of the Japanese people.

Among the highlights of the film are scenes from the hollyhock festival of Kyoto, Sumo wrestling, pearl diving and the Kabuki theater. There are scenes from the ports of Kobe, Nagasaki, Yokohama and Ajiro as well as Tokyo night life.

Tickets are available at the Central Box Office, Mission and 6th (May Court), phone 624-6739; Abinante Music Store, Monterey, 372-5893, and at the Sunset Box Office prior to the performance.

Photography Exhibit
The Minor White exhibit of fine photography is currently on display at the studios of the Friends of Photography at the Center.

Due to increased interest and attendance, the Friends of Photography will remain open one hour longer each day. New hours are from 1 to 5 p.m. daily except Monday. Admission is free.

Symphony Concert
Nicanor Zabaleta, harpist, will be the featured artist at the Feb. 4 concert of the Monterey County Symphony.

Mr. Zabaleta has appeared with more than 90 symphony orchestras, including the Berlin Philharmonic, Pittsburgh Symphony, the Madrid National Symphony and the Salzburg Mozarteum Orchestra.

For reservations and further information call the Symphony offices at Sunset—phone 624-4125.

Sunset Notes

by Dr. James E. Gilman

The Young Artists' Theater made its debut into the mad, mad world of Show Biz last Friday with the award-winning play, "Waiting for Godot" by Samuel Beckett. Also on the program was Dave Allen's "Let Us Begin."

Beckett's two-act tragic-comedy featured Jean Rousseau as Pozzo, Wendy Grissim as Lucky, Dean Funk as Vladimir, and Eric Jennings as boy. Ronald Guillemette directed.

"Let Us Begin," a visual collage based on the inaugural address of President Kennedy, was directed and photographed by Dave Allen.

The Young Artists' Theater is made up of past and present students of Morgan Stock's Monterey Peninsula College Theater Group.

Additional performances will be given this Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings at 8:30 p.m. with repeat showings next weekend.

Tickets are available at the Forest Theater, Mountain View and Santa Rita Streets, Carmel, prior to each performance. For advance reservations call Dave Allen at 375-8713.

Explorers Carmel
"The People of Japan" will be presented at the Sunset Center Theater on Saturday, Jan. 25 at 8:15 p.m. by the Explorers Club of San Francisco.

Gene Wiancko, who photographed this feature-length color film, will be present to narrate the story of "The People of Japan."

Parents Considering Divorce Given Advice By 'SOS' Panel of Experts

"Watch out," said Rev. George E. Ridgeway, "that you are not attracted again to the same type of person you divorced."

He started the panel discussion of "The Single Parent," in the "SOS" series being put on by Parents Without Partners on Wednesday evenings at the Pacific Grove Community Center.

"A single parent often faces life loaded with feelings of guilt following a humiliating divorce procedure based on scandal and false testimony," said Mrs. Lorraine Lukor, Family Service executive director.

"A woman is faced with financial problems. If she must work, who will take care of the children? What is she to do if the father doesn't pay his share? Discipline is a problem when she cannot provide everything they want."

"It is difficult to handle loyalty to the other parent without jealousy or bitterness."

"However, nothing is more unfortunate than the spectacle of unsuccessful marriage. If you give children love, understanding and sound guidance, a divorce can represent freedom and maturity."

Michael M. Meheen, Carmel attorney, warned of over-glorification of the past or of new friends. "There is a good reason," he said, "for the breathing spell provided by the one year wait before remarriage."

Mrs. Joan (Walter) Spear of Carmel, part time social worker, said that a person alone needs to make decisions about himself. He needs to realize that he can make it by himself, that he can be happy.

"Some people," she said, "drag around for the rest of their lives hating men or women, feeling they got a rotten deal."

"Evening hours are lonely and single mothers turn to children to fill in loneliness. You hear the phrases, 'Mummy's little man.' Women let small children sleep with them which can be overstimulating for the child and a hard habit to stop."

"Kids can't substitute, and parents should not try to be both mother and father. Parents need to have fun without including children all the time."

Various experts willing to meet with small groups were introduced by PWP President Gordon Cubbison. Group therapy, psycho-drama and depth encounters and helpful books were discussed.

On the next program, Wednesday evening, Jan. 29 at 8 p.m., John R. Cooper, Ph.D., clinical psychologist with the Carmel Institute for Transactional Analysis, will speak on marital conflict and its effect on children.

Cubbison To Lead Psycho-Cybernetics

Dr. William R. Parker, executive director of Psycho-Cybernetics Workshops, who has spoken before several local service clubs, announces a Carmel series which began Tuesday.

Through group involvement, the workshops guide people in applying the principles of psycho-cybernetics toward self-improvement and setting worthwhile personal goals. Group leaders follow the philosophies of Dr. Maxwell Maltz, author of the book "Psycho-Cybernetics" which has sold over three million copies.

Established by the Foundation for Human Achievement, the organization presently has personality development groups in operation throughout Northern California.

Briefly, psycho-cybernetics holds that the self-image is the key to human personality and human behavior, and that development of an adequate, realistic self-image will imbue the individual with new capabilities and talents that literally can turn failure into success.

Leader of the Carmel sessions, which extend over a 12-week period, will be Gordon Cubbison, local financial planner, Cubbison, who holds a master's degree in public communication from Stanford University, was a professor at Boston University, where he conducted communications seminars.

On three occasions, he was awarded the George Washington Medal by the Freedoms Foundation "for outstanding achievement in bringing about a better understanding of the American way of life."

Carmel workshop participants may attend either on Tuesday evenings from 7:30 to 10:00 or Wednesday mornings from 9:30 to noon. Both series will be held at the Carmel Women's Club, 9th and San Carlos, beginning Jan. 21 and 22, respectively. Enrollment should be accomplished in advance by calling 758-3394 in Salinas, collect.

Buss Returns To Monterey Institute

The Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies is happy to announce the return of Dr. Claude Buss, professor of history at Stanford University and renowned authority on Southeast Asia, as visiting lecturer at the institute for the spring semester.

Dr. Buss was a visiting lecturer at the 1968 summer session at the institute, after which he participated in a number of conferences in Washington, D. C. and traveled extensively in Southeast Asia.

The addition of Dr. Buss to the faculty of the institute augments the area studies which complement the study of languages.

Gem Chairman

Gus Breton, president of the Carmel Valley Gem and Mineral Society has announced new committee chairmen: Sally Mullnex, programs; Gale Holloway, librarian; Bob Pelton, drawing table; Urcel Holloway, Federal Director; Jeff Stockdale, safety; Bruce Kendall, commentator; Twila Culp, historian; George Culp subscriptions; Dorothy Jean Smith, refreshments.

The club met Jan. 15 at Brey Hall.

House Hunting?

Who's New

Dad minds the store while Mom's a "traveling salesman"—that's Donald and Vera Resco who recently moved to the mouth of Carmel Valley.

And together they mind the horse, the banty chickens, the dog, the cat and, along with the housekeeper, the children, Dawn, 3, and Michael, 1.

While Don replates, restores and repairs silver in their Monterey shop, Colonial Silver, Vera makes contacts with jewelry and antique stores in outlying areas including Santa Cruz, Boulder Creek and Salinas.

"Everyone has been so nice," declared Mrs. Resco, "as neighbors and business acquaintances. Why, Mr. LaPorte even gives talks on our service to people who buy silver at his auctions!"

Born on a South Dakota farm, she brings to their new Valley home a midwest energy that permits "spare" time for crocheting besides making all her own clothes.

Mr. Resco, originally from Kansas, includes fishing and hunting as hobbies. The couple came to this area from Southern California.

Christian Science Bible Lesson

"Lord, who shall abide in thy tabernacle? Who shall dwell in thy holy hill? He that walketh uprightly, and worketh righteousness, and speaketh the truth in his heart." This verse, which is part of the Christian Science Lesson - Sermon titled "Truth", will be read in all Christian Science churches this Sunday.

From the denomination's textbook Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, one of the related passages to be read is the following: "The question, What is Truth, is answered by demonstration,—by healing both disease and sin; and this demonstration shows that Christian healing confers the most health and makes the best men."

OBITUARY

Prof. George Herbert Guttridge, 70, who taught history at the University of California, Berkeley, for 40 years before his retirement to Carmel four years ago, died Jan. 7.

Native of Hull, England, his wife Eleanor is his only survivor. Friends wishing to make contributions in his memory may do so to All Saints' Church.

Padres Win Sixth Straight MTAL Contest, 70-66, Over Holy Cross

by Hal Gann

Carmel's Varsity Basketball team turned back Holy Cross, 70-66, to win their sixth straight Mission Trail Athletic League game against no defeats Saturday evening in the palatial Cabrillo College Arena at Aptos.

For the first two quarters, it appeared that the Padres would roar to an easy conquest, piling up uncanny leads of 15-2 and 21-4, and leading at the end of the first quarter by 29-9, and enjoying a 15-point cushion at halftime.

However, Holy Cross in the third quarter began to nibble away at the margin, and trailing by nine points with 1:15 to go in the third quarter, Carmel's fine center, Bruce Winkler fouled out of the game and at this point local fans grew tense and fearful of Carmel's first loss with their star pointmaker and rebounder on the bench.

Coach Jason Harbert vigorously protested the last two fouls called against Winkler, infractions the officials interpreted as "offensive charging" while Bruce was trying to work toward the hoop with the ball.

In the closing moments the Panthers came to within three points of the lead, and with 40 seconds left, Malcomb Hall sank two pressure free throws to put Holy Cross out of range.

The Panthers also suffered in the foul department, with Center Gary Allen after registering 20 points, leaving the lineup with 6:12 to go, and sharpshooting Guard Terry Bernard committing five with one stanza remaining.

Holy Cross the evening before had upset King City at Mission Hill Junior High in Santa Cruz, 63-53, — the Panthers have no home floor — and Harbert and his players were visibly concerned prior to the game.

Carmel the week before beat the Mustangs, 59-50, on the Padre Hardwood.

The key to Carmel's staying off Holy Cross in the stretch drive was the change from a man-for-man defense into a zone.

This stopped the bigger Panther performers like Steve Parrish and Kim Allen from driving for the basket, and forced Holy Cross to take the outside shot.

Winkler, sitting out the entire fourth quarter, tallied 23, and Chris Laiolo, displaying deadly accuracy, hit six out of eight fields goals from outside, collected four for four free throws to amass 14.

Mark Spindler and Steve Taylor each collected 11.

Spindler's point - making largely made up on drives for the hoop, and Taylor, showing that he, too, could hit from outside.

As a matter of fact, it was the outside shooting accuracy of Laiolo and Taylor that kept the Holy Cross zone defense loose for the effective drives of Winkler, Spindler and promising Junior Pete Shaw.

This was the type of offensive efficiency Coach Harbert had been looking for all season.

Hall got two field goals in the second quarter, and four important free throws in the fourth period to total eight for his evening.

Shaw had three, and though Ross Smith played a sterling defensive game, he went scoreless.

Jeff Burda had 15 for Holy Cross.

Last Friday night, the Carmel Varsity made it five in a row with an easy 71-52 romp over Gonzales.

Winkler had 26, Laiolo and Taylor each with 11, and Spindler and Smith with eight apiece paced the Padre attack.

The local entry is presently the only undefeated team on the Monterey Peninsula.

Dick Charles' Carmel Junior Varsity came from behind in the third quarter against Holy Cross, piled up a four basket lead, and then staved off a late drive to win, 53-51. The Jaycees lost to Gonzales, 53-48, the night before after having a substantial lead, but not being able to hold on. Charles feels his team, now with a 2-4 record, has finally jelled.

Jan. 23, 1969

The Carmel Pine Cone-Cymbal 15

Collectively, Jeff Canepa was high point man both Friday and Saturday night with 25, followed by Jim Conlan and Scott Morris, each with 22 for both evenings.

The Carmel Freshmen bowed to Gonzales, 53-38, and to Holy Cross, 54-40.

Next home game for Carmel is Friday, Jan. 31 with arch rival Pacific Grove.

Robert H. Gerdes, Chairman of the Board, Pacific Gas and Electric Company

We of PG&E share your concern about the appearance of the yellowish cloud caused by the new units of our Moss Landing Power Plant.

I take this means to reassure you that PG&E is pledged to find the solution to this problem as soon as possible. We will make whatever expenditures are required to do so. We are proceeding in good faith and we ask your patience. We need the time to solve a riddle unprecedented in our experience. We have made substantial progress to date and are determined to finish the job.

What Causes the Cloud

The principal fuel used at the Moss Landing plant is natural gas—a clean fuel. The cloud does not come from anything in natural gas. When burned, natural gas turns into two end-products—water vapor and carbon dioxide. Both are harmless. Both are also invisible, except on cold days when the water vapor condenses and leaves the stacks like steam from a teakettle.

The cloud is caused by an air chemical reaction. Air is a mixture of gases, mainly nitrogen and oxygen. When any fuel is burned, increasingly so with higher temperatures, some of the nitrogen in the air combines with some of the oxygen to form nitric oxide (NO), an invisible gas. In the atmosphere, the NO picks up more oxygen and becomes nitrogen dioxide (NO₂). The latter, when formed into a layer by certain atmospheric conditions, appears as a yellowish cloud.

The Problem

Our investigations to date indicate that the problem with the two new units at Moss Landing is that because of unexpected combustion characteristics when natural gas is burned a higher than normal percentage of nitric oxide is formed from the air. This problem has never occurred at any other PG&E plant, nor with the five earlier units at Moss Landing.

What About Health Hazard

Expert consultants assure us that there is no indication of any hazard to your health or to animal and plant life. To check the experts' conclusions we have asked the Monterey-Santa Cruz County Unified Air Pollution Control District to undertake a thorough ground level testing program. We have offered support and cooperation for such a program. In any event, we are determined to get rid of the cloud.

What About Oil

Oil is used as a standby fuel in our steam-electric power plants. This is for the purpose of maintaining a continuing and adequate supply of fuel for electric generation when gas is diverted from our power plants to supply our gas customers during cold spells and other adverse conditions.

Burning oil at Moss Landing does not produce an abnormal percentage of nitric oxide. It does produce some sulphur dioxide and ash, but the plant was designed to avoid air pollution problems from these sources by adequate dispersion, and our studies to date show that it does.

If any future tests made by us or the Air Pollution Control District should show that the oil we burn does cause an air pollution problem, we will make such changes as are necessary to remedy the situation.

What Is Being Done

We are giving priority attention to solving the problem. To date we have succeeded in reducing the nitric oxide about one-third by changing the air mix during the combustion process. We are working on other approaches such as increasing flue gas recirculation, adjusting air flow through the burners and injecting water or steam into the burners. Our engineers are studying design changes and every other possibility for further reductions. We have retained as consultants foremost experts in the fields of boiler technology, environmental control and meteorology. Among them are Stanford Research Institute and the Institute of Gas Technology, Chicago. Together we have a team of nationally recognized experts working at the task. Tests and studies so far are encouraging.

Our Concern and Commitment

We are deeply concerned about this problem. We share your pride in the beauties of our state and its environmental advantages. Your best interests are ours too. Please be assured of our determination to find the solution to this problem as promptly as possible.

Sincerely yours,

Robert H. Gerdes

Tri-County Mission Trails Heart Fund Sets Hors D'Oeuvre Contest

A meeting was held recently at Del Monte Hyatt House to launch the upcoming Heart Fund Cocktail Party and Hors d'Oeuvre contest to be held this year at Del Monte Hyatt House, Sunday, Feb. 9, 5:30 to 7 p.m.

Bud Allen, La Playa Hotel, chairman, and Paul Reed, Highland Inn co-chairman, presided over the meeting which included representatives of Tri-County Mission Trails Heart Association, representatives of the Monterey Peninsula Hotel Association, sponsors, and local volunteers.

Residents of Monterey, San Benito and Santa Cruz counties may enter their favorite hors d'oeuvres in the friendly competition, which is one of the features of the event.

Entries are made in either amateur or professional classifications.

Contact either Bud Allen or Paul Reed for contest entry blanks.

Judges are to be selected, with Mrs. Robert Stanton heading that committee.

The public is invited. Donations are $10.00 per person to attend and tickets may be obtained from any hotel on the Monterey Peninsula or the Monterey Peninsula Chamber of Commerce.

All proceeds are to benefit the Heart Association.

Residential Area Motel Expansion Problem Aired

by Gunnar Norberg

Just what exactly is the problem about those motels in the residential areas of Carmel?

Wasn't there an ordinance passed last spring to stop any expansion of those motels?

Wasn't the ordinance what you might call a "freeze" order?

And if that was the case, why have we had — and why are we having — all the argument about the effort of one of them, Edgemere Cottages, which seems to want to expand?

Didn't the City Planning Commission unanimously turn down that request for expansion, months ago?

And why wasn't that the right, and final decision?

The trouble really started early last month when the City Council decided, quite surprisingly, to reverse a unanimous decision of the City Planning Commission.

That unanimous decision of the commission's had turned thumbs down on the request of the Edgemere Cottages to add 290 square feet of building coverage while supposedly simply rebuilding and remodeling two of its already existing motel units.

Shouldn't Edgemere — or any other recently legalized residential-area motel — be allowed to up-date its units?

True, said the Planning Commission, but such a motel should not increase building coverage while so doing.

Basically, said the Planning Commission in its original refusal to grant the Edgemere request, a motel unit should not be increased in size if it was to be rebuilt, and essentially each such unit should be simply sleeping accommodation for transient guests, and not a house-keeping apartment.

Then what happened?

Why didn't that original Planning Commission refusal simply end the matter right there?

Because the owners of the Edgemere Cottages did not accept the Planning Commission decision as final, and because they appealed the Planning Commission decision to the City Council, and because the City Council — by a 4-to-1 vote — reversed the Planning Commission's decision and ordered the Planning Commission to reconsider its first decision.

Later in December the Planning Commission did reconsider its original refusal to grant the Edgemere request. And it seemed, briefly, as though the Planning Commission would turn down the Edgemere request again, but the motion failed by a 3-to-4 vote.

A second motion, to approve the Edgemere proposal, passed by a 4-to-3 vote.

What could have been the reason for the City Council's reversal of the original Planning Commission denial.

The answer is: Loopholes in last spring's "freeze" ordinance.

The Planning Commission in first denying the Edgemere request had acted on the basis of the stated intent of the ordinance, which was to stop any kind of expansion "in use or in area" in any of the residential-area motels, whereas the City Council majority instead directed its attention to the unfortunate loopholes which the ordinance contained.

One such loophole appeared to allow an increase in building coverage at Edgemere. Another loophole, could, in theory at least, allow additional motel units at a half a dozen of the newly legalized residential-area motels. They could, that is, if a request such as the Edge-

BMW'S NEW SIX

New BMW Six Will Go On Display At Snook's Monterey Show Room

By Charles Strosnider

Motor Trend Magazine says of the BMW cars: "Everyone who gets behind the wheel asks the same question: why can't they build an American car like this? In performance, handling, ride, comfort and every other automotive characteristic, the BMW deals from the top of the deck, and, in most instances, outshuffles cars costing much more bread."

Car and Driver says: "It occurs to me that something like nine and ten million Americans are going to make a terrible mistake this year. Like dutiful little robots they will march out of their identical split-level boxes and buy the wrong kind of car. Fools, fools! Terrible, terrible, I say. To my way of thinking, the BMW is one of modern civilization's all-time best ways to get somewhere sitting down."

Road and Track adds: "BMW builds nice cars. Always has. And the more of them we drive, the more we appreciate them. Road and Track publisher James R. Bond lists the BMW as one of his Seven Best Cars."

Now Bavarian Motor Works — BMW — celebrates its recent entry into its second 50 years of success in the motor industry.

In 1919 the world's first high altitude airplane engine, a BMW six-cylinder, was used to reach a height of 32,050 ft., a fantastic achievement at the time.

In 1969 the new six-cylinder line of BMW's have been added to the remarkably successful four-cylinder 1600's and 2002's.

The engineering refinements that went into all of these cars are outstanding, and as the company says, "Keen, hard drivers appreciate its athletic behavior; discriminating users value its comfort, luxury and finish. All buyers ride with the extra security of knowing its dual concept of safety — high crash-evasion ability plus high impact protection."

Fred Snook's BMW Motors, on Del Monte Blvd., Monterey, will be unveiling the new six-cylinder models in a few days.

Watch for the announcement!

These cars require only the feather touch of light salesmanship — they sell themselves. Actually, Fred Snook's men only go along for the ride as custodians to keep the enthusiastic drivers from absconding with his property. Make a date now to be escorted in the "now" and "new" BMW's!

Hidden Valley Music Seminars Backed At Arts Coordinating Council Meet

A resolution favoring the establishment of the Hidden Valley Music Seminars somewhere on the Monterey Peninsula was passed unanimously by the Arts Coordinating Council of the Monterey Peninsula at its meeting last week.

The resolution followed a presentation by Peter Meckel, dean of the Hidden Valley Seminars, who described plans for establishing a year round residential school for talented musicians between the ages of 14 and 19.

Seminars for instrumental and vocal students nominated by teachers all over the country have been held at the Robert Louis Stevenson School for the past two summers.

Dedicated Group

Mrs. Charles Trumbly of Carmel said that she had never seen "a more dedicated and talented group of young people."

"The school needs to be away from the hustle and bustle of a large metropolis, but near enough for its benefits," said Meckel.

"It should be kept small, limited to 70 students and 10 faculty members.

"It's planned that students may be released from a year of school work for intensive study in the field of music."

"Kids are constantly bombarded with outside influences. They need to be away—to have time to reflect—to cut out the world and concentrate," he said.

Time To Reflect

Meckel was asked whether they had another location in case they don't get the 100 acres at Mt. Devon Ridge recently offered them which has had tough sledding in the County Planning Commission due to neighborhood residential objections to increased traffic on the narrow mountain road.

He said they had considered a Carmel Valley location but feared that it would be too hot at times.

Depending on the terrain, the proposed school needs about 40 usable acres, he said.

Mrs. W. E. van Loben Sels of Carmel asked whether trucks would have to make deliveries if the school were established in a residential area. He answered that they would, but that students were not allowed to have cars.

Mrs. Monte Harrington, Mt. Devon Road resident, commented that it was a wonderful idea to have the school on the Peninsula, but she wondered whether they shouldn't stay at Stevenson school until a more practical location were found.

Lyceum Coordination

Mrs. Vera Lehman said that applications were placed with music teachers in public schools, but only two students were from the Peninsula.

Had there been any coordination with the Lyceum for gifted children, Meckel was asked.

He answered that there had not, that he did not know whether they had the same aims, to provide music theory, history, and conducting as well as instruction.

A Lyceum delegate, Mrs. George V. Yates of Pebble Beach, explained that indeed they did have similar aims and that such instruction was provided gifted children by the American Symphony conductors meeting each year at Asilomar for a workshop.

Hidden Valley musicians have been invited to participate in the Department of State cultural exchange program, and to play in Hawaii for the Music Educators National conference.

The Council also considered the possible need next summer for two weeks housing for the American Symphony Orchestra League which has been meeting at Asilomar, as expressed by Mrs. Rody Holt of Carmel.

Apparently foundations support has failed in the West and the Peninsula is in danger of losing the conductors' workshop for training 150 conductors and managers from the 1500 symphony orchestras all over the country.

Council president Leonard Klene recalled that it was at the suggestion of his wife Mimi that the league first came here from Santa Barbara.

Mrs. Frank Ringland said that the Monterey County Symphony Association and Guild would surely help these "dedicated people."

Volunteers

The help of Lyceum volunteers was pledged by Mrs. Yates, since the gifted Peninsula children receive instruction from them.

Workshop leader Dr. Richard Laird, conductor of the Pasadena Symphony works closely with John Waddell of the Pasadena Symphony Chorale who teaches the Hidden Valley Chorale.

Auto Show

Mrs. Harrington also described with enthusiasm the big auto show at the Fairgrounds to be held in October. Part of ticket proceeds will go to the Council.

A no-host luncheon for presidents of every organization was planned for Wednesday, Feb. 19, place to be announced later. M.H.

Hamilton New Pro At Tennis Club

Don Hamilton, one of the leading teaching professionals in California, has been named head tennis pro of the Beach and Tennis Club. Hamilton, lately of the Carmel Valley Racquet Club, succeeds Michael Hook.

Since turning pro in 1953 Hamilton has been instrumental in developing a number of state and nationally ranked junior players, including Jean Danilovich, Sue Shrader, Steve Turpin, Tobin Ray and Tina Lyman.

As an amateur Hamilton ranked third in Southern California behind Herb Flam and Pancho Gonzales.

He won the Pacific Southwest Junior Championship and later captained the 1950 University of Pacific tennis team, which ranked third in the national intercollegiate. That same year he was a finalist in the national collegiate doubles.

Hamilton, long noted for his doubles play, has wins over such tennis greats as Gonzales, Pancho Segura and Art Larson.

Fremier Encounters Bomb Scare

Roger Fremier, whose photographic work has been seen frequently on the front page of the Carmel Pine Cone, will soon begin teaching in business administration at Monterey Peninsula College.

Last week, Fremier drove up to his alma mater, San Francisco State College, to obtain an affidavit of his qualifications.

He was stopped from going into the Administration Building because, he was told, a bomb had just been found there.

Sure enough, there it was, and he even got close enough to see it.

The tactical squad from the San Francisco Police Department and the U.S. Army bomb squad were called in to disarm the bomb.

Auditions For 1969 Bach Festival

Auditions will be held on Saturday, Jan. 25 for singers and instrumentalists interested in participating in the 1969 Carmel Bach Festival.

The auditions will be held in the music room of the Carmel High School and those interested are asked to phone the Festival office—624-3437—for appointment.

Both men and women singers are needed and anyone with good choral background is invited to audition.

The main choral work on the 1969 program is the complete Passion According to St. Matthew.

Chorus rehearsals will be

Carmel Travelers

(Mr. and Mrs. John G. Bannister of Orinda have had a summer vacation home in Carmel. They are presently on a tour of South America, and their amusing letters will be carried periodically in the Pine Cone.)

Hotel Crillon, Lima, Peru

Well, the Golfing Gauchos are on the way to invade South America, and although we started off in high spirits, and with a feeling of optimism that our "South American Cousins" were anxiously awaiting our arrival, we soon discovered that the entire Western Hemisphere is NOT one big happy family, in spite of our good intentions! The minute we set foot in Panama, the REVOLUTION, she started!

Before going into detail, I will tell you about our group so you will be able to identify all the various and sundry characters as they appear in this saga of the South.

Our stout-hearted band of Gauchos is 23 in number (11 couples, plus our courier, Rich Brown, who gets us in and out of airports and hotels and then seems to evaporate.

He is of North American parents, but was born in Lima, Peru, and we have placed ourselves completely in his hands, as he carries our passports and tickets.

If anything happens to Rick, you may never see or hear from us again!

The rest of the group is composed of the Houstons, Bill and Bunnie (Bill is our social leader, who takes care of our cocktail parties, entertainment and ideas—in that order!); Marie and Les Thompson (Marie is our "Shopper," and I'm anxious to see how her Oriental decor from the last trip is going to blend with wall-to-wall llama rugs and pre-Inca pottery!); The Justices (Marie and Bailey—more commonly known as "FLICKER," who records our every movement on Polaroid film and confronts us with it on the spot); Leo and Nell Calastini; Jay and Ginny Sponberg; Charlie and Kelly Packer; Charlie and Paula Turner; Rhett and Lou Turner (no relations); Erdeane and DeWitt Tichenor, and Dr. LeRoy and Velma Leal (a dentist, not a doctor, so we are all equipped with our own individual prescriptions for "you know what." If we have to have a tooth extracted during the trip, however, we are covered!). Now, if you will count back and include Jack and me, you should come up with 23! So much for the cast of characters, now on with the show!

I shall skim over our late start from S.F., our late departure from Los Angeles, where all the male contingent bought liquor at the duty-free counter, and our late arrival in Panama. Had our Pan-Am flight been just a little more punctual, we would not have walked into the Panama airport at exactly the same time as the Panama Militia, and discovered we were in the midst of a "coup!" We were a little startled to see soldiers rush past us with machine guns drawn, and in full battle regalia, but we nonchalantly dismissed it as customary South American procedure, until we were informed that we would not be allowed to leave the airport as there was "movement in the streets."

I'm sure by now most of you have read the newspaper accounts of the coup, and I assure you that reading about it is much better than being in it! After at least an hour of being "detained," we were given clearance to proceed to the hotel in a car caravan with the admonition to stay inside upon arrival there.

That last bit of advice was totally unnecessary as far as I was concerned! The ride to the hotel was anything but relaxing, and since it was pitch black, until we reached the city, I had some several nervous moments, wondering whether we would be ambushed or caught in a cross-fire between the good guys and the bad guys!

Incidentally, we never found out which was which, and none of the guides or drivers seemed to know either! Our one and only night in Panama was not conducive to a great sleep, nor does our one day stay in Panama evoke any real fond memories.

Although we were a little wary of leaving the hotel, we were able to take the tour to the Canal Zone, which proved most interesting. On the way there and back our cars were stopped and searched more than once, and some of our group were ordered out of the cars, and the men were "frisked," and the ladies' purses were also searched.

It's hard to describe the tenseness of the situation, and the feeling of hostility we all experienced! This was totally unlike any place we had ever been, and I must admit it left us with a most unpleasant impression.

A fund-raising auction, a first for Carmel Boy Scout Troop No. 32, is scheduled for 11 a.m., Jan. 25, at the Boy Scout House, northeast corner of 8th and Mission.

Goal is $1,050 to send three troop members to the seventh national Scout Jamboree at Farragut State Park, Idaho. Because of limited space at the international event, they will be among only 37 scouts from the Monterey Council to attend.

New and next-to-new merchandise, donated by merchants and private citizens, will go to the highest bidders.

Service organizations or individual parents have financed Jamboree attendance, explained Scoutmaster Robert L. Pelton. The troop's self-help approach through the auction affords more learning and participation.

Glasser Memorial

Contributions to the Rose Mary Glasser Memorial Fund, ranging from $1.00 to $200, now total $1,368.00, according to Dr. Jack Bessire, Monterey Peninsula College dean of student personnel.

The fund was established by a group of citizens in November to honor the memory of the late Mrs. Martin Glasser, a tireless volunteer worker in school, college and civic affairs. The citizens' committee has designated it "to be used at the discretion of MPC for financial assistance to students."

Contributions, with checks made payable to the college, may be sent to Dr. Bessire. Each donor will be thanked by mail and the Glasser family will be sent a listing of all donors.

Contributions to the Martin Luther King Jr. Fund, founded in memory of Helen R. Ingham, total $2,001.50 to date, Bessire says.

Ted Krough Is New Ad Consultant

A new arrival in the business life of the Monterey Peninsula is Ted Krough, advertising consultant, who has just established his office in the Patterson Building in Carmel.

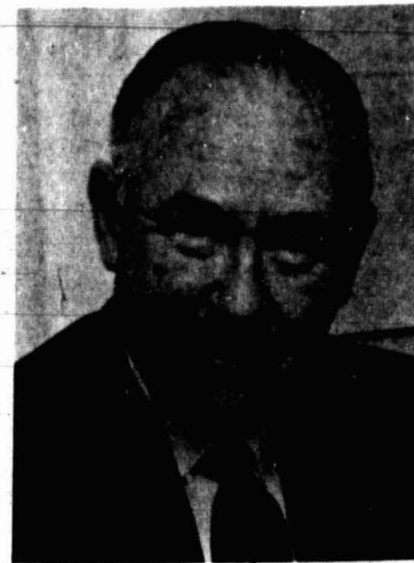

Krough resides with his wife, Marilouise, in the new home they have just completed in Carmel Meadows.

Krough comes to Carmel from the San Francisco area where he has carried on his consultant activities for the past five years.

Prior to entering the consultant field he was an account executive and creative director in major advertising agencies on accounts of national caliber such as Nescafe, Nestle's Milk Products, Italian Swiss Colony Wines, C and H Sugar and S&W Fine Foods.

He was for many years a vice-president of the well-known advertising agency, Honig-Cooper and Harrington.

He now specializes in creative selling ideas and copy

If you're one of those people who can't seem to get down to writing letters, you'll be glad to know that a three-minute long distance call will replace about a two-page letter for you! It's a fact:

during a three-minute call you can say just about all the words you'd probably be writing—as many as 450 of them. An added advantage to calling: in most cases you get answers to your questions and the comments you're after without waiting for days. Plenty can be covered during such a telephone call, but it's helpful to jot down some notes on what you want to say before you call. When you keep in touch with friends and family by phone, you can get a lot more understood a lot quicker—for surprisingly little.

I would like to take this opportunity to extend a hearty "Welcome to the Crosby" on behalf of Pacific Telephone.

We on the Monterey Peninsula are fortunate to be able to host this outstanding event that brings the stars of the golf and entertainment worlds together for the benefit of charity.

For your convenience, Pacific Telephone is providing Message Center service during the Bing Crosby National Pro-Am Golf Tournament. Our centers will be available from 9:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m., January 22 thru January 26.

The Centers will be located at the 1st Tee at Pebble Beach and at the 18th greens at the Cypress and Spyglass Courses.

DEATHS

LOUIS MAYER

Louis Mayer, 99, world-renowned sculptor and painter, died on Tuesday, Jan. 21, at a local hospital. He had come to live permanently in Carmel with his wife, the former Dora Hagemeyer, a noted poet and long-time resident of Carmel.

Much of Mayer's training and work was done in Europe which he and his wife visited frequently. They spent much of each year at his studio in Fishkill, New York.

His statue of St. Francis is in the courtyard at the Carmel Mission.

He has received much recognition in recent years both in this country and abroad.

MAURY L. MAYO

Maurice Leslie Mayo, who will be remembered by his many friends for his love of reading poetry for Carmel Foundation programs and Peninsula gatherings, died on Monday, Jan. 20.

He was a talented painter in oils and had several commissions to do paintings of redwood trees which were his love.

Born in 1902 in Orleans, Cape Cod, Mass., he was a Mayflower descendant of Elder William Brewster.

After spending many years at sea he made his headquarters with the Charles Peacock family in Portland, Oregon.

Prior to moving to Carmel 15 years ago to share a home with Robert Peacock, on San Carlos at 11th, Mayo was maitre-de at the Press and Union League Club in San Francisco.

During the last few years he was headwaiter at Robles Del Rio Lodge in Carmel Valley.

Interment will be in the family plot on Cape Cod.

Friends wishing to make contributions to his memory may do so to the Community Hospital Building Fund, P.O. Box HH, Carmel.

Cypress Swimmers

The four-year-old Cypress Swim Club which includes many Carmel and Valley girls is now ranked among the top seven teams in National AAU synchronized swimming competition.

Few people realize the dedication it takes for them to maintain their position.

Even during the raw winter weather when it is likely to be raining, the girls are at Carmel High School pool practicing in the evening.

While the water is heated, the air is not and it can be pretty miserable.

Their coach and manager, Donn Squire of Carmel Valley and Del Neel, both have been appointed to the National AAW Synchronized Swimming Committee in recognition of their years of volunteer service to amateur sports.

Squire is undefeated Senior National AAU men's synchronized swimming solo champion.

Our Men in Service

Enoch H. Schoultz, son of Mrs. Mary A. Morrison of Route 1, Carmel, was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Marine Corps during graduation ceremonies at Quantico, Va.

Candidates for the Officer Course are drawn from colleges and universities throughout the nation and from the enlisted ranks of the Corps.

The 10-week course concentrates on individual responsibility as a leader and on tactical control and employment of small combat units.

Freeman Retires As U.S. Ambassador, Becomes MIFS President Feb. 21

In impressive and traditional ambassadorial retirement ceremonies at the State Department in Washington, D.C., Fulton Freeman, retiring Ambassador to Mexico, who is the president-designate of the Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies, was honored by Secretary of State Dean Rusk, who said of Ambassador Freeman.

"He is exchanging the quiet atmosphere of the Foreign Service to become a college president."

Freeman is completing 30 years in government service. Honored with Ambassador Freeman were two other veteran ambassadors, Llewellyn Thompson, who has been serving in the Soviet Union and Charles "Chip" Bohlen, Ex-Ambassador to France.

Both Bohlen and Thompson have served 40 years each.

All three were presented the Ambassadorial Flag and a medal commemorating their many years of service.

In his remarks to the 150 guests present, Ambassador Freeman recalled an experience he shared with Ambassador Bohlen during World War II.

Both Freeman and Bohlen were on different boats heading for Italy after their release by the Japanese (in Freeman's case after interment in China).

As they entered a harbor held by the allies, the first allied ship to be informed that two U. S. Ambassadors were aboard the ships, blew

R.L.S. Reports

By Peter Meekle

This is the week during which the communities of the Monterey Peninsula join to honor one of the most outstanding and distinguished citizens of the West Coast, Samuel F. B. Morse. The Robert Louis Stevenson School has a very special reason to have its voice heard in acclaim for this man. From the inception of R.L.S. seventeen years ago, "Sam" has been a constant source of active support and concern for the "little school in the forest".

Only 12 months have passed since Sam turned the first spadeful of earth for a building which, now completed, is known as the S.F.B. Morse Fine Arts Center. The fact that the first structure to be named after this loyal friend is an art center is appropriate in view of his great dedication to the arts and his life-long efforts to preserve the natural beauty of the Peninsula.

A campaign led by Justin Dart and Leonard Firestone provided the funds to construct the Fine Arts Center in Morse's honor. It contains a large music rehearsal room, six practice studios, a 90-seat little theatre, a magnificent gallery, a photography dark room, a publications center, an art studio, and an apartment for the artist-in-residence, Mr. Richard Pearsall.

Fully in use now, the S.F.B. Morse Fine Arts Center has facilitated a broad expansion of R.L.S.'s arts program. A visitor to the building will discover a chorus rehearsing, an instrumental ensemble preparing for a program, a group of boys deeply engrossed in a music or art history course, or a young man studying a plaster cast and trying to translate it into a pencil drawing. In the evening, the same visitor might view the frenetic activity of a newspaper staff attempting to meet a deadline, or a neophyte photographer "printing it again" to get the exact effect desired.

The building, designed by award-winning architect, John Lyon Reid, is a great tribute to the man whose name it bears, but the creative and studious efforts which it houses even more truly represent the spirit of Samuel F. B. Morse.

GOLD SAND WEDGE — A. G. Michaud, left, president of Del Monte Properties Company, presents Alfred Gawthrop, right, executive of Wedron Silica Company of Chicago, a gold sand wedge after the formal signing of the merger agreement between the two companies. With the merger Del Monte Properties Company becomes the third largest industrial sand producing company in the United States.

Del Monte Acquires Wedron Silica, Is Now Third Largest Sand Company

Del Monte Properties Company has acquired Wedron Silica Company, Chicago for approximately $10 million in a move that makes the Pebble Beach company the nation's third largest producer of industrial and commercial sand.

Under terms of an agreement concluded today by A. G. Michaud, Del Monte Properties president, and Alfred Gawthrop, Wedron chief executive, Wedron stockholders receive 237,600 shares of Del Monte Properties common and 216,000 shares of a new DMPCo convertible preferred having a $25 par value with a 4 1/4 per cent dividend.

This is a portion of the additional 1,240,000 common and 500,000 preferred shares which were authorized last year by Del Monte shareholders. The agreement — retroactive to December 31, 1968 — gives Wedron shareholders about a one-quarter interest in Del Monte Properties Company.

Wedron plants in Illinois, Texas and Tennessee coupled with Del Monte sand operations at Pacific Grove, California; Egumett, Idaho; and through an affiliate in Valley, Washington, gives the company a dominant position in several regional markets.

In addition to its sand mining activities, Del Monte Properties owns and operates the world famous Del Monte Lodge, Pebble Beach and Spyglass Hill golf links and has large real estate holdings in the Monterey area.

The Wedron acquisition is the latest in a series of aggressive moves by the 50 year old development company.

Del Monte's growing interest in the sand mining industry will not change its traditional commitments to sound land planning and intelligent conservation of natural resources, as has been proved with the construction of the Spyglass 18, which was created on reclaimed mining sites.

The acquisition, negotiated by the midwestern banking firm of William Blair and Company leaves Chicago as Wedron headquarters. However, management and direction of DMPCo divisions including those of real estate, brokerage and hotel-resort facilities remain at Pebble Beach.

Light on SE Asia Shed by Prof. Buss

United States problems in Vietnam, the Philippines, Japan and Red Japan were made much clearer by Prof. Claude Buss of Stanford who addressed a full house World Affairs Council meeting at Brey Hall, Friday evening. He recently returned from Southeast Asia.

He could see no great change of policy in the new administration. Alexis Johnson will be undersecretary in the far east under Secretary of State Rogers. William Bundy is continuing. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge will be advised by William Havva and John Nabrahante.

Both sides are at the end of the telephone and will take orders from home. The military don't give an inch, but the U. S. is tired of fighting and dying. The Vietnamese, fatalistically, feel they can do no more.

The North Vietnamese insist the Americans must get out; Americans insist on mutual withdrawal. Even a cease fire is difficult where there is no line and half the enemy is not in uniform.

If the Russians were to say no more supplies until peace, there might be a chance of settling the war, he said.

Philippines

Philippine Ambassador Lopez in Los Angeles recently complained of "shabby treatment by U. S. . . . tired of American bases and trade agreements."

Buss recalled the 1947 Rehabilitation bill in which we settled with them for $800 million. In 1958 the Philippine Republic presented us a bill for $8 billion for payment of guerilla claims.

Only four bases are left at which GI's spend $15 million a month. They want us to give up the Langley trade agreement of free sugar tariff, and an auto manufacturing kickback.

A similar situation applies also in Indonesia and Thailand.

Japan

Prof. Buss reported Japanese feeling against the 47 bases and occupation of Okinawa.

They feel that the "American base is a lightning rod, not a defense," and that the Chinese would not attack the Japanese or Philippines unless the Americans were there.

There is a Japanese Peace Corps which has spent $30 million in Indonesia, he said.

The Japanese are very sensitive about the nuclear explosion by the Chinese. Chinese propaganda says they will not be the first to use the bomb; that if the U. S. does not wait them to experiment, to destroy our bombs.

Red China

He reported that under the 1955 Warsaw agreement with Red China, 40 Americans held in China had been released. Now only four remain. Other questions in dispute, such as ceasefire in Formosa Straits, exchange students, remain, but we still meet with them periodically.

He recommended the article by Henry Kissinger in the January issue of Foreign Affairs, and the article on the psychology of Saigon in last week's The New Yorker magazine.

Because of the illness of Frederick Jandrey, the meeting was opened by vice-president, Borell Kirschen. The speaker was introduced by Carl Pohlhammer, Monterey Peninsula College Political Science instructor.

State Warns On Tax

Some taxpayers are computing their State personal income tax liability and then deducting the $70 property tax refund recently established under the provisions of Proposition 1A, said Martin Huff, Executive Officer of the Franchise Tax Board.

"This is a serious matter because we cannot allow that deduction and, by the time we locate the error and notify the taxpayer, it could well be too late for him to apply for his refund through his county assessor."

"The only way the property tax refund can be obtained is through the county assessor, not through deduction from an income tax liability," Huff stressed.

Forms for property tax refund can be obtained from the county assessor, along

Librarian's Notebook

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg, City Librarian

A new book about the Sitwells is by John Lehmann and is entitled A Nest of Tigers.

These three brilliant, talented people were the darlings of the literary world for a number of years.

It is said they were found "suddenly emerging from an aristocratic background to the forefront of an avant-garde revolution."

Edith was the oldest of the three and even as a child she was so ugly her parents caused her to wear a metal brace of some sort in an effort to straighten her long nose. Her appearance was especially noted because her mother was so beautiful.

After her two brothers were born, the three became inseparable as children, and all their lives they worked together and were considered almost as a unit.

All the literary great and near great appear in this book in whatever relationship they bore to the three Sitwells.

James Meriwether and Michael Millgate have edited a book on Faulkner, and both of them have previous books on Faulkner to their credit. This one is entitled Lion in the Garden, Interviews with William Faulkner, 1926-1962. These are the important interviews with Faulkner over a period of thirty six years and show clearly his views on many subjects.

A Latin American mining town named Prospero is the scene for a book by Sister Maria del Rey of the Maryknoll Order.

The small town of Prospero was very poor, it's citizens leading miserable lives with no prospect of a better future. A group of Maryknoll Sisters arrived in the town to help the Capuchin priests to lead the citizens to better and more prosperous lives. It took twenty years but they did it.

This book is one result of the experiences of Sister Maria del Rey.

It is a warm personal account of a great experiment in human living and loving. Love Among the Daughters is the third volume of the autobiography of Elspeth Huxley. To nudge your memory, the first was called The Flame Trees of Thika, and the second was On the Edge of the Rift. This is the always energetic, always entertaining Miss Huxley at her best. It covers her years in England plus a period of college life in America at Cornell University.

Delightful all the way. Lastly but not leastly, let us speak of Mark Hatfield's new book Not Quite So Simple. The Senator from Oregon believes we are too prone to accept the simple, easy solution to our political problems and he argues against this tendency in this book. At the risk of sounding like a damaged record - and around phonograph record, let us again remind ourselves that the part of wisdom is to read these books by young politicians so that we will know their views and not have them suddenly appear in the political limelight while totally unknown to most of us. It happened recently.

CARMEL MEADOWS—1 BEDROOM—$38,500
A charming home, in excellent condition, with some ocean view, and sweeping valley view, a large 1-bedroom custom-built home, easily expandable. Full price, just $38,500.

A 2-BEDROOM BEAUTY ON CARMEL POINT
And a neater, cleaner house you'll not see anywhere. It's not big, but it has everything a house should have: 2 baths, separate dining room, laundry facilities, charm, and quality. Shown almost any time. An outstanding buy at $49,500. Exclusive.

LARGE 2-BEDROOM PLUS LANAI—$44,500
Ideal retirement home (no stairs), large living room, 2 large bedrooms, 2 full baths, and a southerly enclosed lanai, opening on to a formal garden. Warm, sunny, 60' x 100' lot, just 9 blocks south of Ocean Ave. An excellent value at $44,500.

PEBBLE BEACH—LUXURY OCEAN VIEW HOME
In Del Monte Forest, on a large lot, an exceptionally well-built contemporary designed home of 3 bedrooms, den, dining room, 2 baths, modern in every respect, with all built-ins, and lots of closets and storage. Sweeping view of the ocean and Point Lobos. $98,500 is the asking price.

TWO BLOCKS FROM THE POST OFFICE
There is a charming shake roofed stucco house nearing completion. Considerable care has gone into the planning so that the modern amenities of built-in appliances, laundry facilities and a master bedroom suite do not conflict with the charm of the "Carmel Look". With over 1600 square feet of living space, including a step-down living room, second bedroom and bath, studio or den and a separate dining room, this is an outstanding value at $45,500.

Enos Fouratt's Specials

A PANORAMIC VIEW of Point Lobos and the Valley and a quiet cul-de-sac location are the principal assets of our 2100-square-foot, three-bedroom, two-bath, separate dining room home. It has a large two-car carport with storage space galore and minimum maintenance landscaping. A rare value at $55,000.

AN OAK STUDDERED FRONT YARD, an enclosed rear yard and its busline location contribute toward the value of our little two-bedroom bungalow up on Carpenter between 5th and 6th. A good retirement home at $28,500.

WE HAVE AN OUTSTANDING LOT VALUE on Portola Road in Pebble Beach. Excellent location for golfers. Acquiring 0.941 acres for $22,500 is an excellent hedge against inflation and cost-of-living increases as a straight cashout investment even if you do not plan to build.

Our World Is So Full Of A Number of Things ...

HOMES, FOR INSTANCE: We're all excited about one of the lovely old homes in the Highlands, almost across from Highlands Inn, with a private access to the Point Lobos beaches. Price will be $225,000 for this rare, luxury item. And we're also excited about a most unusual little house in Carmel Valley for only $37,500 which has a brook (planned) running through the living room. And that adorable Sea Cradle just off Scenic Drive for $55,000. And the two wonderful 2-bedroom homes we have for $37,500 and $42,500.

DOWN THE COAST, we can give you several ocean-front homes priced from $89,500 for a fascinating hung-by-a-skyhook hexagon near the Point Sur Light, up to $160,000 for the entire top of a mountain complete with a marvelous home and views you can't even imagine in your wildest dreams (divisible acreage, too). And if you haven't seen our "Sound of Music" home on 6 acres in the Palo Colorado Canyon, you aren't really looking for a fabulous retreat. Just listing another property there for $37,500 on smaller acreage, too. Building sites overlooking and directly on the ocean, of course. Ask Hank.

IN A BUSINESS WAY, we have a downtown, first-class shop for lease. Also wonderful for offices. We have commercially zoned land in the heart of the business district of Carmel. We have a business court which has been in the same family for years. We have a commercial property with shop below, home above.

YOU'VE HEARD ABOUT WHAT HAPPENED TO PROHIBITION IN PACIFIC GROVE? We just happen to have one of the best locations (and traditional, easily converted old building) for a swish restaurant and cocktail lounge on the A-1 corner for only $85,000. Ask Eldon. While you're at it, you might also ask him about a corner we think ideal for a liquor store.

SOMETHING WE'VE ALWAYS WANTED — A LITTLE RED SCHOOLHOUSE for only $22,500. Artists, craftsmen, summer home people, school house collectors: it may be just what you want. Bordered by vineyards and apple orchards. Of course it's in Santa Rosa but we do grudgingly admit that it is beautiful country there, too. Brochure on request.

BUILDING SITES WE HAVE to fit your most elaborate dream house, or simplest weekend plans. Ask for our Lot Sampler with maps for many of them, but also ask about more recent listings. We'll tell you how to get there and you can go on your own if you prefer.

LEAVE YOUR HEART IN SAN FRANCISCO? How about a quaint, restored Victorian with 4 units with a fantastic bay view from the luxurious master apartment? Owner absolutely must sell as he has lost HIS heart to Carmel, has brought something here, and has only a few days left to complete his purchase. Ask Barbara Farris for delightful details or a brochure. Or both.

OUR SHOPPING SERVICE is always available to find something which isn't on the market, too. Maybe you should stop in for a cup of coffee (we also have tea) and let us know what you like.
